Ben Lindsey Denies Being Up For Klan

DENVER, Jan. 20.—Denying that he had ever been a member or applied for membership in the Ku Klux Klan, Juvenile Judge Ben Lindsey today denounced the organization as "vicious and venomous."

Judge Lindsey's denial followed published magazine articles that the famous Denver juvenile judge "had come up for vote in the Klan about two months ago and he was unanimously rejected for membership.

"I resent the inference that I have ever in any way, directly, indirectly or remotely, sought membership in such an organization," Judge Lindsey declared. "Of course I never did and never would."

Judge Lindsey asserted that he was determined to investigate how the story about him started.

ELEVEN IRISH PUT TO DEATH; PRISON BREAK FAILS

Free State Authorities to Conduct More Vigorous Campaign, Report

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, Jan. 20.—Eleven republican irregular prisoners, who were charged with train wrecking and possessing arms and munitions for purposes of rebellion, were put to death today by the Free State military authorities.

Five men were executed at Athlone, four at Tralee and two at Limerick. All had been convicted by Free State military tribunals.

The two men executed at Limerick, Cornelius McMahon and Patrick Hennessy, were found guilty of wrecking trains.

The four men executed at Tralee were John Clifford, Michael Brosnan, James Hanton and James Daly.

More Vigorous Policy

This is the beginning of a more vigorous policy against the irregulars to put down lawlessness and guerilla warfare.

Dublin was shaken by explosions with republican irregulars blowing up railway viaducts and bridges with dynamite all around the city.

A secret tunnel was discovered leading from Mountjoy prison, where hundreds of irregular prisoners are confined, to a nearby private house. Several inmates of the house were arrested.

Free State troops raided a house in Aughrim street, Dublin, arresting four irregulars and seizing a quantity of arms and munitions.

Uncle John Says:

We was entertainin' some friends from out of town yesterday and Mrs. Rogers come in. She got to criticisin' the City Council, the school board and the business men and everything. That seems to be her way of makin' conversation. Mary says to her, "Mrs. Rogers, you wouldn't go to strangers and criticize your family, would you? Now, ain't this the same principle? Why give strangers a poor notion of Glendale when you really know it is one of the best cities in the world with smart and conscientious men at the head of affairs? When I want to criticize I go to headquarters. If I get something at the store I don't like I go to them that can make it right and they're nearly always glad to do it. That's one way to help our home city." Mrs. Rogers said she guessed Mary was right, she hadn't thought of it that way.

W. E. PALMER LOSES $100 IN ATTACK BY HIGHWAYMAN

Man in His Employ Hits and Strangles Him and Then Takes Money

W. E. Palmer, of Wabasso Way, Verdugo Woodlands, was assaulted and robbed of a wallet containing $100 at 6:30 o'clock this morning, by one of the two teamsters he was driving to work in his car.

Mr. Palmer states that the robbery took place on Sycamore Canyon road and that he was in the front seat, at the wheel, and that his two teamsters, employed and known only under the names of George and Clyde, were in the rear of the machine. Clyde struck a match to light a cigarette—when suddenly the one known as George leaped forward, grabbed Palmer by the neck and gripped him in a strangle-hold with his left arm, while with his right fist he dealt him a series of vicious blows on the back of the head. Then, reaching for and obtaining the wallet, he sprang from the machine, dashed across the road and disappeared through Mrs. Wheeler's apricot grove.

Makes His Escape

Mr. Palmer and Clyde gave chase but failed to locate the fleeing thief. The police department was then phoned and Chief Fraser put a man on the case.

"This man had been driving a team for me on Sparr ranch," stated Mr. Palmer. "And previously he worked for three days with J. C. Sherer, city treasurer. I picked him up at Second and Los Angeles streets, Los Angeles, and never knew him by any other name than George.

"He told my wife last night at the supper table that he was an I. W. W. I should have been suspicious of him but wasn't, as I have had very little trouble with my men.

Send Out Description

"He gave me a good choking, but outside of that I am none the worse—only $100 poorer."

Chief Fraser, when interviewed, stated that he has notified all surrounding cities and hopes to pick the man up in a few hours.

The following description of the bandit is given out, furnished by Palmer—age, 45; mustache, sandy; eyes, blue; hair, dark brown; hat, soft black; blue overalls; weight, 175; height, 5 feet, 9 inches.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Both Italy and Belgium have requested Great Britain to intervene in the Rhineland in an effort to establish a reparations agreement between France and Germany, but the British will maintain their neutrality and will not interfere, it was stated at the British foreign office this afternoon. The representations of Italy were particularly forceful.

"For the time being the British are determined to adhere to their policy of aloofness," it was announced at the foreign office. "Representations from the Belgians were treated similarly to those from Italy."

Hostility Increases

It is learned authoritatively that there are now 90,000 French and Belgian troops in the Rhineland and the Ruhr, while the French are prepared to move others into that district if they deem their presence necessary.

Advices from cities in the Rhineland show that hostility against the French is mounting steadily. The French are threatening to expel all the families of recalcitrant Ruhr mine officials.

The French are prohibiting Rhineland banks from handing out shares and securities, indicating that they may be requisitioned later on.

GLENDALE KIWANIS CLUB ENTERTAINS AT SOCIAL MEET

Members Have Dinner and Dance; Program Proves Varied and Pleasing

The Sunset Canyon Country club held open house last night at a dinner and dance given by the Glendale Kiwanis club.

The success of the affair from all standpoints was the occasion of congratulations being showered upon Fred Deal, of 237 North Louise street, who had charge of the arrangements.

"We expect big things for Kiwanis this year," explaimed A. L. Ferguson of 525 North Jackson street, newly elected president, in a short speech. "And, if we do have the success that we expect, it will be due to our immediate past president, Lyman P. Clark, more than to any other one person.

"Eight years ago the first Kiwanis club was organized. Today there are 906 Kiwanis clubs with a total membership of 77,000. That shows that the Kiwanis club is filling a real need in the country which is already overcrowded with clubs.

Not Large But Lively

"The Kiwanis is a luncheon club and its members must be there or lose their membership. That is the reason that it is not a large club but a lively one.

"I certainly appreciate the honor of being president of this club and hope for splendid things in the near future."

Short after dinner speeches were made by other officers of the club and newly elected directors were introduced. The fact was mentioned that Treasurer Delos H. Smith was unable to attend because of illness.

Denial that he had helped to organize Kiwanis clubs throughout the San Fernando valley in order that he might have a place to lunch every day was made by Fred Deal, district trustee, who is superintendent of this district for the Southern California Telephone company. He admitted, however, that sometimes he ate with the Alhambra Kiwanis club on Monday, the Burbank Kiwanis club on

The church was filled to the doors and the line passed the coffin at the rate of forty persons every minute. The line extended a block from the church doors and a police detail was on hand to handle the throng.

Men, women, young girls and small boys composed the crowd that filed by the casket, which was banked in flowers. Eugene Pallette, life long friend of Reid and one of the pallbearers, stood at the head of the casket.

IDENTIFIES MOTOR TRUCK IN USE BY 'HOODED MOB'

Son of Klan Officer One of Guards on Death Car, Says Witness

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.

BASTROP, La., Jan. 20.—The motor truck used by the "hooded mob" of Morehouse parish to carry their kidnaping victims away to torture on August 24, last, was positively identified today from the witness stand at the open hearing.

The death car's number was declared to be "Louisiana 74657," by H. E. Blankenship, Bastrop merchant, who testified he had made a note of the number the day following the kidnaping. According to state authorities the owner of the car bearing this number is Smith Stevenson, former night watchman of Bastrop, and witness in the present investigation.

Son of Klan Leader

Blankenship, under oath, also swore he recognized Oliver Skipwith, youngest son of Captain J. K. Skipwith, exalted cyclops of the K. K. K., as one of the guards on the "murder truck" when it passed him that fatal afternoon. The driver of the truck, he said, was Smith Stevenson. The witness further declared he had seen the form of Richards lying bound and blindfolded on the truck beside two other men "whom I could not recognize."

Blankenship told the crowded court room he saw the kidnaping entourage pass his home while coming from the scene of the holdups and en route to the woodland rendezvous where two captives were flogged. He could not recognize any other member of the hooded mob.

HOLD BARN DANCE FOR BENEFIT OF TUESDAY CLUB

About 200 Guests Present at Social Affair; Fund Aids Women's Organization

TUESDAY AFTERNOON club women have never failed to provide splendid entertainment at their benefit affairs, and the barn dance given last night by a group of club women at the Victor Manufacturing plant on San Fernando road did not fall short of preceding events, and, in addition, augmented the club house furnishings fund approximately $70.

The dance committee transformed the big building into a most comfortable dance hall. A platform was erected in the center for the musicians and for decoration branches of eucalyptus and acacia trees were arranged about the posts.

As the 200 guests arrived they were received by a group of the hostesses, who tagged every one with a small name card, fastened with a bow of yellow ribbon.

Those In Charge

During the evening punch was served and candy sold for the benefit of the club.

The committee in charge of the evening was Mesdames J. H. Searles, chairman: Ella W. Richardson, R. W. Meeker, Waldo Richardson, A. A. Bassett, W. E. Cleveland, G. O. Piercey, W. S. Ingram, Mae Rosenberg, James Belyea, Peter Diederich, F. J. McCann, E. D. Radke, E. T. Remmen and S. H. Waller. These women worked with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Because of trouble with lighting the building the first part of the program was by candle light, the grand march being delayed until after the lights came on. The moonlight effect presented by the flickering candles added interest to the affair and the first dances were as greatly enjoyed by the company as those coming later.

Patrons and Patronesses

Arthur H. Dibbern, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, and Mrs. Dibbern led the grand march, and later Mr. Dibbern was the enthusiastic director of a live Paul Jones dance.

Patrons and patronesses of the dance were: Mayor and Mrs. Spencer Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ayars, Mr. and Mrs. John Robert White, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Dibbern, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beamon, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rat-

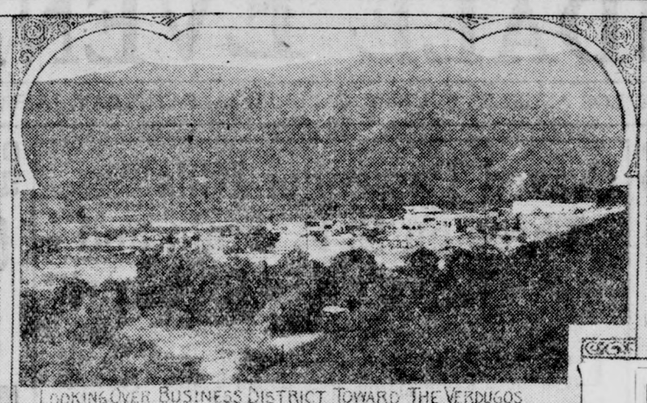
Sparr Heights Lures Many Seeking Fine Home Sites

THE SIERRA MADRES FROM SPARR HEIGHTS



LOOKING OVER BUSINESS DISTRICT TOWARD THE VERDUGOS

PROPOSED OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB HOUSE

OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB WILL BE ONE ATTRACTIVE FEATURE

Community Service Organization Takes Big Interest In Development Projects

So urgent has been the demand for homesites on the beautiful rolling hills lying to the east of Verdugo road in Sparr Heights, that the Francis-Barnum-Walters Co., the owners and subdividers of this beautiful tract, have had a large force of engineers working overtime making a plat of this choice territory. This plat is at last completed and it will be open for reservations today.

Facing the Verdugo road, the most delightfully picturesque boulevard leading out of Los Angeles, this choice property commands a comprehensive view over the whole of the lovely Verdugo valley. Bounded on the east by the Sierra Madre range and on the west by the famed "Green Verdugo Hills."

Directly in front, on the opposite side of the boulevard, will be located the picturesque home of the Oakmont Country club and, stretching between will lie the beautiful greens of its splendid eighteen-hole golf course.

On these hills at an elevation of 1500 feet, in a perfect climate, surrounded on every side by scenic beauty, with a perfect transportation service and guarded by long-time rigid restrictions, one can build an ideal home and, if the phenomenal sales of the first and second units are a criterion, these hillside homesites will go quickly.

Community Service

The gift of the artistic community center building to Sparr Heights and the city of Glendale by William S. Sparr and the members of the Francis-Barnum-Walters company, the owners and subdividers of Sparr Heights, came at a most opportune time.

Glendale's interest in community service has rapidly been intensifying. The possibility of bringing the entire city together through community service was most effectively demonstrated at Glendale's first community Christmas celebration held on the Glendale Union high school grounds recently and which proved such a great success. The program was participated in by all those present and the enthusiasm manifested engendered a "get together" spirit that was decidedly marked and gave promise of increased development in the future.

Large Attendance

Just at this time, when the value of activities in the mass, became evident to Glendale's citizens and the need of some centre, in which these activities should focus, was demonstrated, came the gift of this handsome building. The appreciation of the gift was evidenced by the large attendance at the laying of the cornerstone. This building is so designed that it will fully meet the need of a place where theatrical entertainments and social gatherings can be given.

A committee from the three luncheon clubs of Glendale, the "Exchange," "Kiwanis" and "Rotary" which conferred recently with the executive board of the Glendale Community Service, was authorized to raise the remainder of the proposed budget for the service work in Glendale. It is planned to give a dinner, at $25 per plate, $1 extra to admit escort or lady. The dinner will be set for January 29.

Three Luncheon Clubs

The organizations of Glendale have been divided among the three luncheon clubs, so that each club will be responsible for securing one-third of the organizations to enter into the campaign. Every club in the city is invited to participate. It is planned to raise $3000 at the dinner.

The Glendale Community Players, a subsidiary of the Community Service, whose object is to furnish highclass theatrical performances, propose to hold an open air festival next May, at which time they will present "The Sign of the Cross," which will require a cast of 160 members.

A committee was appointed to visit Sparr Heights and inspect the bowl which the Francis, Barnum, Walters company propose to improve with a Greek theatre for use in outdoor spectacles and pageants. The site met with the committee's unqualified approval, and it has received assurance from the Francis, Barnum, Walters company that it will lend every assistance in its power to make it an unqualified success. The company is working along a definite line of development that will make Sparr Heights a community where every social and intellectual need will be fully met, and it is deeply interested in any movement that is in this direction.

Oakmont Country Club

With the Community Centre building in constant use by social organizations, with spectacular performances being shown at the Greek theatre and the "functions" of the Oakmont Golf club, whose mammoth swimming pool and splendid eighteen-hole golf course will attract the leisure and cultured class, with whom golf is a "fad," from all over Southern California, the residents of Sparr Heights will be furnished highclass entertainment and amusement that will be more accessible than is possible to those who live in the heart of Los Angeles.

The illustration accompanying this article shows the proposed clubhouse as it will be built, with perhaps some slight modifications. Located well up on the long slope from the Verdugo road boulevard to the Green Verdugo Hills that have become famous for their beauty, it faces the beautiful cluster of rolling hills to the east of the boulevard that has just been opened for homesite reservation.

From its broad veranda one will get a view over the whole of the lovely Verdugo valley and the giant Sierra Madres while, spread out in front, is the golf course, every bit of which is visible and where every play can be followed.

Big Seed Catalog Ready for Growers

Morris & Snow Seed Company of Los Angeles Issues Big Annual Book

The Morris & Snow Seed Company of Los Angeles, one of the oldest and largest seed houses in California, has just issued its 1923 catalog. The book contains a vast amount of valuable information to orchardists, ranchers, gardeners, and growers generally. The big book is really a manual because of the "Hints on Growing" which presents valuable information on spraying, fumigating, fertilizing, and use of insecticides. It tells how and when to sow seeds and set out plants for best results, and explains the correct use of tools and implements. Notes on marketing, telling how, when, and where to buy and sell to advantage are another feature of the 1923 volume.

The big book contains sixty-four pages and has more than 150 illustrations. It is said to be the most complete book of its kind ever issued in the Southwest. The company announces that a copy of the book will be sent free to readers of this paper who write for it. The address of the Morris & Snow Seed Company is E-437 South Main street, Los Angeles, Calif.—Advertisement.

RUSHING WORK ON STATE'S BUDGET

Prompt Introduction of Bills Carrying Appropriations Asked by Governor

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—Through Senator Arthur H. Breed, president pro tem, Governor Friend Richardson has requested the senate to have all bills calling for appropriations introduced by next Monday in order that the board of control may give them proper consideration.

In making up the budget this year, the new board is working night and day to do in a month that which it usually requires 90 days. So it is evident they will be unable to submit to the legislature a pencil copy of the document prior to the first of February.

The willingness of the administration to co-operate with the solons in getting the necessary appropriations into the budget bill is the one bright light of the weekend's activity and may tend to salve some of the more or less rabid opponents of economy with efficiency.

In the board of control's budget, however, there will be noticed a large number of sinecures eliminated, according to observers close to G. K. Daniels, Mrs. Nellie Pierce and George Radcliffe. They are making radical reductions in the matter of help and helpers, it is said, although nothing definite can be ascertained as yet.

At the same time a very funereal look is registered on the countenances of those officials called to the board's offices on the third floor of the capitol, so a great deal of suspicion lurks around the corridors.

Speaker Is Host

Governor and Mrs. Friend W. Richardson, Senator and Mrs. A. Burlingame Johnson and Assemblyman and Mrs. Frank W. Weller were among the guests at a duck dinner for fourteen served Thursday night by Speaker Frank F. Merriam and his good wife at Hotel Land.

It is said that this tete-a-tete, which included several newspapermen, was quite important politically, although the honored guests considered it a matter of social importance. From all evidences the local representatives stand high in administration circles.

Speaker Merriam is in Long Beach over the week-end, attending the installation of the Knights of Khorassan, a Pythian order, of which he is the head. Others of the southern solons hied away to Truckee last night for a snowball fight.

It is gossip around the capital that records will show that, aside from scrupulously paying all political debts possible at the last minute, former Governor William Stephens collected salary to the very last hour he served.

Wants State Building

Senator Lewis of Los Angeles has introduced a bill authorizing the erection of a state building in the southern city with a view of housing the various offices now scattered about the city, but principally in the Pacific Finance building, under one roof.

Inasmuch as this calls for an appropriation, little hope for its passage can be expected, although it will eventually be built.

The absence of pork barrel measures is noticeable, although appropriations are asked for several highway links which should be constructed at once.

Women Favor Measure

Assemblywoman Esto Broughton of Modesto again presented the Community Property bill to the legislature. It is a measure sponsored by the women's clubs throughout the state and a lobby is expected here to convince the solons that the women are in earnest.

If the new bill becomes a law it will give equal testamentary rights to husband and wife in community property, meaning that either spouse will have the right to will half of the property.

The lawyers are said to favor the measure, which certainly indicates it will make more business for them.

Anthracite Miners Prepare to Strike

Excellent Program

Interspersed between dances was a program arranged by Kiwanian Harry Girard of 240 South Louise street, who kept his word that the numbers would not soon be forgotten.

"An Old Fashioned Girl" was the title of a pantomime dance given by—James Bush. Only the spectators didn't know that "she" was a "he" until the secret was disclosed amid much mirth. He interpreted the "Dance Oriental" also.

Miss Mia Marvin, also from Los Angeles, presented a veil dance and a toe dance. Both were much applauded.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard sang several duets and each sang solos also. They were received with the usual favor.

Music for the dancing, which lasted late into the "fog," was furnished by the Shrine Club orchestra with A. M. Kelly of 1011 East Wilson avenue with his violin; Mike Kaufman of Hollywood, piano; Earl Floyd of 1300 East Stanley avenue, saxophone, and Roy Donaldson of 129 West Acacia avenue, clarinet.

INVASION THREAT TO CIVILIZATION

German Industrial Magnate Predicts Spread of Red Terror in Europe

ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 20.—"France is playing with fire — the flames of Bolshevism which are once let loose upon Germany will quickly spread westward and devour all that is left of our European civilization."

This was the ominous warning sounded today by Dr. Bruno Bruhn, director of Krupps, in an exclusive interview with International News Service. Because of the exposed position he holds as head of the biggest industrial concern in Germany, Dr. Bruhn speaks but rarely for publication and only yielded to repeated requests for an interview when it was pointed out that an authoritative statement from such authority would go far towards giving America a clear view of the situation.

JAIL WOMAN SPEEDER

JUDGE TO PROBE HOODED MOB RAID

Attempt to Kidnap Witness For State Rouses Ire of Louisiana Court

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

COURT HOUSE, BASTROP, La., Jan. 20. — The latest outbreak of night-riding by the "black masks" of Morehouse parish was subjected to a formal court investigation today by order of Judge Fred L. Odom.

The court's inquiry was directed at the reported attempt of a black-robed band to kidnap J. M. Knight, government witness in the hooded mob murder hearing.

The attempt was foiled when the "black masks" held up Sidney Rogers, youthful son of a Mer Rouge farmer, by mistake, after Knight failed to carry out a pre-arranged visit to the Rogers home.

Judge Odom summoned both Knight and young Rogers to tell their stories in open court. His inquiry follows repeated announcements that he would use "the full power of the state of Louisiana" to prevent all efforts at the intimidation of witnesses.

FILM ACTORS TO ENGAGE IN DUEL

Challenge to Deadly Combat Follows Bitter Quarrel Between Movie Men

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—To settle a difference of opinion, said to have arisen over an argument on medals, Norman Kerry, Universal film star, and Captain Albert De Conti will engage in a duel "at dawn across the border," it became known today. Both men are said to have admitted the agreement to settle the question with pistols.

The date has not been set, pending arrival here from Chicago of two business men, who will act as seconds for Captain Conti. Seconds for Kerry have not been named, but it is said that Malcolm Waite, known as the "millionaire extra," will be one of them.

REACH SOLUTION OF MERGER CASE

Plan Provides for Leasing Of Central Pacific by S. P. Till Dec., 1984

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Opposition to the Southern Pacific acquiring control of the Central Pacific by lease and stock ownership crumbled when H. A. Scandrett, counsel for the Union Pacific, told the interstate commerce commission his system would withdraw its objections to the granting of the application if that application were granted with certain conditions.

These conditions were outlined in a new plan under which the Southern Pacific would lease the Central Pacific until December 31, 1984, with a terminating clause should the lease interfere with the commission's final plan of consolidating the railroads and by ownership of all the outstanding capital stock of the Central Pacific during the continuance of the lease.

Plan Solves Problem

"Both sides of this controversy say that the adoption of this new plen is a solution of the problem," Scandrett said. "It seems to me that the commission by approving this application has an opportunity of doing a constructive service."

John H. Benton, on behalf of the Oregon railroad commission, asked the commission, if it granted the application, to insert a condition making it obligatory upon the Southern Pacific to build a certain railroad in Oregon. The commission took the matter under advisement.

Ask Signatures in Home Town Register

A "home-town register" is being estabfished at 212½ West Broadway in the office of the Glendale Building and Loan association.

"The public is cordially invited to co-operate in making this a worthwhile undertaking," announced W. B. Howard, president and general manager of this company, this morning. "Who knows what old friendships may be renewed or new friendships made."

An invitation has been extended to every person in Glendale who came from somewhere else to come and register at the headquarters of the Glendale Building and Loan association.

PLANT AT HARBOR IS SECURED BY BETTINGEN CO.

Growth of Business Demands Extra Facilities For E. R. Firm

The Wm. J. Bettingen company is rapidly outgrowing its present quarters and as a result of increasing business, according to a statement issued by Mr. Wm. J. Bettinegn, the distributing facilities will have to be enlarged, and with that end in view, negotiations have been in progress for some weeks for harbor facilities.

The company has been unable to secure a satisfactory location but has been able to make arrangements for the present with the Hammond Lumber company for the use of their Terminal Island plant for a distributing plant, stated Mr. Bettingen.

In order to deliver promptly and with efficiency transportation will be established by a fleet of trucks between Terminal Island and the Eagle Rock yard.

This arrangement has been made to effect a saving and enable the company to enlarge the territory they expect to serve. Eagle Rock should benefit by this arrangement, says Mr. Bettingen.

SEEK RUTH ROLAND

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—Police today sought Ruth Roland, film luminary, on a bench warrant issued by Police Judge Chambers after the star had failed to appear in court to answer the charge of driving her automobile with the muffler open and without a license.

A woman would rather have a big foot than not have a high instep.

The ringed boar snake was worshiped by the early Mexicans.

CONTEST KEEN IN SALE OF TICKETS

Police and Firemen Battling For Lead in Effort to Boost Dance

More than 1000 tickets have been sold already for the first annual ball of the Glendale Firemen and Police association.

Secretary J. H. Simmons of 707 North Kenwood street this morning admitted this fact.

Policemen and firemen are battling to see which department can sell the most tickets. Firefighters are imposing a toll tax of one ticket upon all autoists who pass their headquarters while the "cops" are busy selling a license to remain alive in the form of one ticket to all pedestrians.

Record for the best salesman so far belongs to Motorcycle Officer Merl Collins. He has sold more than $160 worth of tickets alone.

If the demand for tickets continues a certain portion of one of the business streets will be roped off and soaped on the night of the dance, February 9, for a street dance.

USE OF TALENTS, ADVENTIST THEME

Christian Here to Reconcile Mankind to Redeemer, Says Elder Parmele

"The congregation is rapidly growing and it is becoming a real problem how to seat the crowds who attend the services," this morning remarked Elder R. W. Parmele, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church.

The interior of this church has just been renovated. Floors have been repolished, aisles recarpeted and other improvements made.

The sermon today was based on the parable of the talents.

"It is evident from this parable that all who are in possession of their senses have been given talents, to some more, to others less; but whether more or less, it is their duty to improve upon them," said Elder Parmele. "The day of reckoning is surely coming, and the Master will then demand 'His own with usury.' They are His talents, though lent to us, and we should recognize that we have no right to use them as we will. They have been given for a special purpose, and we should ever keep that purpose in mind.

"The real purpose for which our talents are given is stated by the Apostle Paul in his second letter to the Corinthians. There it is stated that we are here in this world as ambassadors for Christ, and that 'in His stead' we are to pray men to be reconciled to God.

"The Christian is not in this world for self-pleasing, on pleasure bent. He is here for a definite purpose, standing in the stead of Christ, pleading with men to be reconciled to God."

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

No More War for Them Seek Divorce Solution 'Ware of Mary Warners Club Women Are Active

By Gil A. Cowan

"BUDDY, what would you do if America was dragged into another World War?" questioned a disabled veteran of one of the boys who saw the hell of it all over there!

"I would apply for a position as an unofficial observer and make my station on the top of Mt. Shasta," was the reply.

Then he extended his remarks to the effect he had had his fill. One of the incidents he related was following up the retreating Germans and his companion was a companion of five years' standing.

"He jumped off of the truck to pick up a souvenir and he got hold of a German potato-masher bomb. Think of picking up his pieces and carting them around for five days on an ammunition truck before I could get him back to the identification bureau.

"No more war for me, if I can help it," was his conclusion.

From the news reports of the day it looks as though central Europe is going to be in conflict very shortly, inasmuch as Germany already has established a state of war following the French invasion of the rich Ruhr district.

Italy's offer to mediate comes as a soothing note, yet one cannot help but fear that the world again stands on the abyss of self-destruction and somebody has to be decisively defeated.

And America's intervention in the past war will all have been for naught.

Such is the tragedy of history.

All over the world, or rather the so-called civilized part of it, the reformers are seeking a solution for the divorce evil.

The more civilized, it seems, grant divorces readily, but little or no provision is made for the actions of those responsible for marital unhappiness.

In California at the present time an effort is being made to make home-breaking a criminal offense, the same as house breaking. That doesn't seem exactly right, for many times divorces are due to out and out incompatibility.

However, it might be well to have a law prohibiting a divorced person from marrying other than a divorced person.

Indeed, it does seem unfair for a man of experience to have as many opportunities as Kid McCoy (Norman Selby), when there are others who would be happy to have had only one of his wives.

Have you ever heard of "Mary Warners?"

That is the American slang phrase for cigarettes containing the Mexican marihuana weed, one of the most insidious narcotics not covered by federal law.

The use of marihuana has prevailed in Southern California and along the Mexican border for years. It is raised in the hills in this vicinity by Mexicans and peddled in the cities quite freely.

The Mexican government has a law in force prohibiting the growing of the hemp from the leaves of which the dope is secured. But it is grown and its addicts are becoming more numerous with the advent of prohibition.

For the information of those who may be so unfortunate as to fall heir to the use of the drug, let it be known that it eventually drives a person insane and it makes minutes seem as days and days as years. It is hard to effect a cure and a person in the clutches of this dope cannot escape it too soon.

Beware the "Mary Warners."

Clubwomen of this state are making their power felt in the California legislature this session, it is reported.

One of their most recent bills to appear in the dispatches is that calling for the ratification of the Shepard-Towner Maternity Education act.

Another bill backed by 400,000 women, it is stated, calls for the abolishment of capital punishment. Also, they seek to have all women inmates of prisons transferred to the Sonoma state home.

Concerning this farm home Miss Eleanor Miller of Pasadena, who with Mrs. Anna Saylor of Berkeley, is taking a decided interest in its defense in the assembly, believes that much of the criticism directed toward the institution is unjust.

Forty-four per cent of the wards received during the past year are narcotic addicts and 24 per cent alcoholics. Regarding the farm Miss Miller is quoted as saying:

"Its sphere must be enlarged. Legislation must provide that all women offenders against the law of the state shall be sent to the Industrial Farm for Women. This means:

"First—That all drug addicts and alcoholics shall be sent to the farm instead of to hospitals for the insane.

"Second—That the criminal women who are now sent to San Quentin shall hereafter be committed to the farm as San Quentin is lacking in facilities for the care of the women.

TAKES CHANCE, CLAIM

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—Without definite plans for defense in keeping with its position in the world, the United States is taking the same chance Greece took and is courting the same disastrous consequences, Major-General James G. Horbard, former deputy chief of staff, declared here today at a luncheon given by the National Republican club.

SOCIAL EVENTS

These women were called upon to speak and responded as follows: Mrs. Campbell on "The Founders of P. E. O.;" Mrs. Cramer, "Why Do We Observe Founders' Day;" Mrs. Smith, "The Future of P. E. O."

Other entertainment numbers was a vocal solo by Mrs. Edith Arnold, "The Land of the Sky Blue Water" (Cadman), and a reading from the "History of P. E. O." by Mrs. Beryl Cross.

Fathers Honored

Fathers of Glendale Union High school pupils were special guests last night at the entertainment program and informal social hour given in the school auditorium under the auspices of the School Parent-Teacher association.

Mrs. Thomas Wood was appointed to provide the program and through the courtesy of Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the school music department, the program was given entirely by high school students.

It was a program of real worth and those taking part and the directors of the various departments of the musical organization were highly complimented.

With the opening of the affair Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, president of the P.-T. A., introduced Mrs. Wood, who presented the program. Included in the program were selections by the high school band directed by Herbert White; a violin number by Thomas Wood, Jr., accompanied by Miss Winifred Parker; readings by Nadine King and June Hurlbert; selections by a quartet composed of Gertrude Heideman, Winifred Parker, Claude Whitefield and Irvin Carver.

During the evening V. M. Hollister, president of the local Community Service organization, spoke on Community Service, and J. A. Lewis of Los Angeles, Community Service song leader, led community singing.

A social hour was later enjoyed.

Wedding Ceremony

At a home ceremony, Wednesday, January 17, 1922, at the W. W. McElroy home at 510 South Adams street, Miss Ruth H. Spratt became the bride of Harold Alexander McElroy, only son of Mr. and Mrs. McElroy. The ceremony was read at high noon by Rev. L. G. Clark of Monrovia, formerly of Montana, where the families of the young couple made their homes at one time.

The wedding was to have taken place in the north, but, owing to the recent death of the bride's mother, the plans were changed and she came to California, accompanied by her father, Thomas H. Spratt of Helena, Montana. Only a few relatives and close friends were present.

For the wedding the McElroy home was most effectively decorated by Freeman McG. Kelley, former partner of the groom. Mr. Kelley also presented the bride with a beautiful corsage bouquet.

Miss Spratt and Mr. McElroy descended the stairs unattended as the wedding march was softly played by Mrs. Kelley. They stood under the arch leading to the music room for the ceremony.

After a wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. McElroy left by auto amid a shower of rose petals. They are now at the Glenwood Mission Inn at Riverside, and a recent letter states that from there they will go to Palm Springs, El Centro and San Diego.

Upon their return they will probably reside at Montebello, where Mr. McElroy is employed in the oil fields.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McElroy were born in Helena, Montana, and they and their families have been friends for more than thirty years. Mrs. McElroy was in California during the past year, and taught in the Los Angeles schools until she was called home by her mother's serious illness and death.

LAST TRIBUTE IS PAID FILM STAR

Thousands in Mute Grief Pass Through Church Where Reid Lies

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—A loving film world, from the insignificant "extra" to the high salaried stars and captains of the motion picture industry, rubbed elbows today with admirers in paying a last tribute to Wallace Reid.

The actor's body lay in state from 10 a. m. until 2:30 p. m. at the Congregational church where the Episcopal funeral service by Rev. Neal Dodd, "chaplain of the movies" was said at 3:30 p. m. All day a stream of actors, friends and admirers formed a long line for a final glimpse of the star. A special police detail was necessary to handle the crowd.

Wally's little son, Billie, 5, and his adopted daughter, Betty, 3, did not attend the services, which will be concluded at the church. After the services Mrs. Reid and her mother returned to their home and the body was taken immediately to Forest Lawn cemetery for cremation in accordance with Reid's wishes.

Turkish Pact With America Predicted

READY TO START ON WORLD CRUISE

Mrs. J. B. McEnany Will Leave February 5 on Globe Girdling Trip

Glendale has one woman, at least, who is able to get ready on time.

Mrs. James B. McEnany of 206 West Elk street announced this morning that most of her luggage already was packed ready for her departure on February 5 on her trip around the world. She expects to spend the next two weeks bidding good-bye to her friends preparatory to her nine months' absence.

Dr. L. Neal Rudy, who formerly lived in Glendale and is now a resident of New York City, will meet his sister in San Francisco, and they will make the tour together.

The itinerary includes Honolulu, the Philippines, Japan, China, India and all "way stations." Four months will be consumed getting to Naples, Italy. About six months will be spent in Europe and on the British Isles, provided war conditions do not interfere.

Must Travel Light

Although Mrs. McEnany is only allowed 350 pounds of baggage, she has divided this weight into four trunks. She is hopeful that they will be able to contain her purchases after contemplated shopping tours in Paris.

Ready to Start

Mrs. McEnany is looking forward with especial interest to crossing India and to visiting in Egypt and Palestine.

The trip westward across the Atlantic will terminate at Quebec, although the tour will not end until New York has been reached. The journey from New York City will be made by rail unless Dr. Rudy decides to motor across.

Mrs. McEnany is looking forward to a very interesting and adventuresome excursion. She stated that she was very fond of traveling. A number of months ago she took a trip through the Panama canal to Cuba, where she was joined by her brother. It was there that this trip was planned.

Heart and Home — Health and Happiness

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE TAKE-TIME-NESS OF HOUSEWORK

The older I grow the more I realize what a great achievement it is to make a successful home.

The woman who can spend her husband's money to the best advantage, in the furnishing and the running of her home, can serve nourishing and appetizing food, who can keep the home neat enough to be pleasant and attractive (but who remembers that the home was made for man not man for the home) who attends competently to all the little details and difficulties of running a home, and who doesn't let all these things get her on the run, seems to me a successful business woman of a high order.

A Business Woman in the Bible

I admire her with all my heart. Sometime I am going to write a tribute to her after (a long ways after, of course) the manner of King Solomon's tribute in Proverbs to the competent woman of Old Testament days—by the way, I should think it would interest people who think women incapable of business affairs to note how much of a business woman as well as a home wife this model wife of Solomon's was.

But, all the same, there is one thing about her life that I can never quite reconcile myself to. And that is the take-time-ness of housework.

I think it is a great and worthy achievement to keep a pleasant, attractive home going but I do think we all ought to put our heads together and find some way to manage so that it won't take so much time of so many women to do the routine part of homemaking.

Those Eternal Dishes!

No matter how smart a woman is, no matter how efficiently she plans her work, how systematically she goes about it, the mechanical routine of beds and dusting and sweeping and cooking and washing and ironing and dishes—those eternal and exasperating dishes—claim most of her time. And so much of this work, if we could only find ways to combine, could be done as things are done in factories by machines and with a minimum of human effort.

A dishwashing machine for a single house may not be practicable or a great time saver. But if two women did the dishes for ten families with a dishwasher one day, and then had four days off while the other eight housewives took their turn, think what a release of human energy that would be.

Or if two women worked the washing machine together one week and then had four weeks off.

Instead of Ten Women in Ten Kitchens

Or if instead of ten women in ten kitchens watching ten dinners cook, we had one or two women watching one big dinner cook (how often you hear women say, it's no more work to cook for several than for two people) what a saving of time that would be.

One of the loveliest Utopian tales I have ever read was the description, by some woman writer, of a nursery in which each woman took her weekly turn watching 20 small children, instead of watching one or two children in her own home every day.

Of course any such cooperation would mean giving up some things, curbing individuality, undergoing self-discipline but I am inclined to think the training it would give us women would be a second benefit, almost as great a benefit as the saving of time.

HERE'S SPORT COAT OF PLAID

—Copyright, Underwood & Underwood

She is indeed a "bonnie lassie" who sports this plaid knit coat with collar, cuffs and skirt of silk crepe knit in white to offset the bright colors in the plaid. Style bulletins tell us that plaids of this sort are to be foremost in sports clothes for the spring and they should be popular if they prove as becoming generally as the one shown above.

Beauty Chats by Edna Kent Forbes

THE MASCULINE INVASION

Recent newspaper paragraphs and some observations of my own have brought out a curious fact—men are invading feminine beauty parlors!

One newspaper commented on the fact that women have been going into men's barber shops of late years, to have their hair bobbed and clipped and sometimes shampooed after the cutting. It was suggested that the men are only retaliating! And one woman, who runs a beauty shop and who is evidently cross at losing bobbed hair customers, announces that men are growing more feminine and women more masculine every day, and refuses even to manicure a set of masculine nails!

But the truth is, that women's shops catering to beauty and to the health of the scalp and skin have geen going ahead of recent years, finding new ways and better ways of caring for their customers. And men's barber shops have stood still.

Moreover, shops catering to women are clean—which is a great deal more than can be said for the average barber shop! Fresh towels come from a sterilized case; brushes and combs, as soon as used are washed in hot water, soap and antiseptic, and laid in the antiseptic case until they are to be used again. Of course I know some barbers do this, too, but not all. And I'm speaking now of American barber shops, the best and cleanest in the world—abroad, shops going in for white tiling and the outward appearance of great cleanliness, almost always call themselves "American" barber shops.

A barber accepts masculine baldness philosophically, and to cure it, if he does try to cure it, uses whichever hair tonic is most profitable for him. Women's shops do better than that!

X. Y. Z.—If the lump on the nose is fleshy you can reduce it by massaging.

Vivian—Your account of your hair shows that it is in need of a good tonic, one in which there is some sulphur. If you send a stamped addressed envelope repeating your request I shall be glad to mail you the formula for such a tonic. The abnormal secretion of your skin will be helped if you give it applications of witch hazel every day.

S. J. N.—When the skin begins to sag it will cause these lines, but you can keep them from becoming disfiguring if you tone the skin by using an astringent at least once each week and feeding it daily with a nourishing cream. It is not essential that you should do much massaging, for often this will cause lines if not done properly, but the important thing is to keep the skin firm and give the tissues as much nourishment as they need, and astringent and cream treatments will do this.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Practical Housekeeping by Florence Austin Chase.....

COUNCIL TABLE

Q.—When using carpets in bedrooms and living room, would you suggest using carpet in dining room also?

A.—That is a matter of personal preference. If the dining room floor is in good condition, a rug in color to harmonize with surroundings, would be in perfectly good taste.

Q.—Kindly give us some of the marks by which we can distinguish William and Mary furniture, and also which is the best wood to select in that design.

A.—William and Mary furniture has for its chief distinguishing feature the cup turned legs and shaped stretchers. Walnut is usually selected for this type of furniture.

Q.—What color curtains would you suggest for a room where there is little light?

A.—In a room where light is weak and windows heavily shaded by trees, or when they face a wall, clearest white material should be used in order not to diminish the light.

Q.—Is velvet used for hangings in rooms that are very small and simply furnished?

A.—Velvet is out of place in a cottage or in rooms simply furnished. Curtains and hanging should be in keeping with the rest of the room. The quality and design should never command attention because of their prominence in the room.

Q.—Is the tungsten lamp good for reading?

A.—A white light such as is produced by the tungsten should not be used for reading. White light reading soon becomes tiresome, the nearer to amber light the better for the eyes. The reason for this is simple. Amber light rays are the shortest of the spectrum; that is, they register impression with the least physical effort on the part of the muscles of the eye, and as these muscles have been straining all day long with the pure red rays and the long pure blue rays and all of the intermediate rays, they have become exhausted by night. Under the soft amber light the tired nerves get their needed rest.

Q.—Should chandeliers be used in living room and dining room, and if so what style?

A.—We have in modern lighting effects, semi-direct and indirect, the living room, general or overhead illumination lights placed in clusters near or at the ceiling (the direct method) is best used in combination with table or floor lamps.

Q.—I am just moving into my own home. I am refurnishing the living room and want to have it pretty as well as useable. Should I choose colors because they are correct whether I like them or not?

A.—A room to be all that is desired must have expression that conveys peace and comfort and joy and domesticity. A room is like the case of a watch—successful if fitted with practical parts. A certain color may be esthetically correct for a room, but it would not be the right selection if it were a color that you detest. With a little careful study I am sure you will find colors that will harmonize with you and your surroundings.

Q.—Kindly give us the complementary color of red?

A.—The complementary color of a primary (red, yellow or blue) is the secondary color, produced by the other two primaries. The complementary color of red is a combination of yellow and blue which is green. The complementary color of blue is orange or a combination of red and yellow. The complementary color of yellow is violet, or a combination of red and blue.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:

"Am glad to say I have followed your directions as nearly as possible the past three weeks and have lost nine pounds in weight. Have suffered no serious discomfort in dieting. Have had plenty to eat but not just what I have been accustomed to. But everything I do eat has an extra flavor apparently. Expect to keep on till I have reduced to normal weight and if I feel as much better then (proportionately) as I do now, I shall be eternally grateful for your message appearing in our paper.—E. C."

That's nice, isn't it?

It is often true that while on a reducing regime there is a greater enjoyment of food than ever. It is because there is a good, genuine hunger rather than a habit hunger. There are many people who never know what it is to really enjoy their food, because they always eat in advance of a true appetite.

We all hope to hear from you again.

Mrs. J. C.—Asthma and overweight are often combined. One of the causes of asthma is dietetic errors. This gives you a clue to what may help you.

Anxious Wife—If you are underweight and anemic it is better that you get yourself in good physical condition before you bear children. Send for our article on gaining. Then later on diet during pregnancy and nursing.

J. A.—The normal weight for children varies a good deal. However, there should be a direct relation between the height and the weight. In a survey made of healthy children of different races it was shown that there was a surprisingly little variation in their weight for the same height. Of two children having the same height, however, the older child should weigh a little more than the younger one.

In general, a baby a year old should have triple its birth weight if it was not underweight or overweight at birth. Seven to seven and one-half pounds is a good weight for a babe at birth.

Babies usually double their birth weight at five or six months, and triple it at one year. During the second year they should gain about seven pounds. After that up to eight years the normal gain is only four or five pounds a year.

Z—Z.—Don't bombard me when my articles fail to appear every day in your paper. Bombard the editor. Tell him what you think of it in strong language.

When the news and advertising columns are crowded, as during the holiday season, some regular feature often has to be edged out. And it is possible that the editor, who probably is a perfect 36 himself and has never had any difficulty in keeping that way, thinks you can go without your feature.

Then occasionally I may write something with which ye editor does not agree and he may be afraid of my convincing style. This, however, won't happen to your paper I know for you will not hold your editor responsible for the views of his writers, and all broad-minded editors like their readers to have both sides of a question. (Pretty smooth?)

A—Z.—I love to get your letters, but please write with pen or typewriter and not more than 250 words. And remember that I get thousands of letters and it may be some time before you will see your answer even though your question may be one of general interest. So you must not wait for my answer but see your personal physician immediately if your problem is important.

FORMER SHERIFF SLAIN IN FIGHT

Brother of Morehouse Parish Deputy Arrested After Shooting

MONROE, La., Jan. 20.—John P. Parker, Jr., former sheriff and son of a capitalist, died here early today from a bullet wound in the head. He was shot last night, according to police, by Carey Calhoun, noted "dead shot" and brother of Larry Calhoun, deputy sheriff of Morehouse parish. The two men were said by police to have quarreled over Ku Klux Klan activities.

Calhoun was arrested at his home at dawn and is now held in the parish jail on a murder charge. Parker was shot through the head and his skull fractured, presumably from a heavy blow.

SELL REALTY BY MULTIPLE LISTS

Sales Average More Than One Daily, Glendale Board Officials Say

The members of the Realty Board who are working under the multiple listing system are much pleased with the way the system is working out, it was declared by officials today. About $81,000 worth of properties listed under this system have been sold within the last seventeen days, and the sales for the month have averaged over one a day, including Sundays and holidays.

The Glendale board, working with the object of promoting fair dealings in all transactions, both for its members and the public in general, feel sure that this system will accomplish much toward the upbuilding of the business of dealing in real estate, it is said.

Vice president Kern, at the state convention, made the assertion that this system would do more than anything else to elevate and dignify the real estate profession, but that the system would not work among men ambitious only for their own gain.

Multiple listing has been cited at the national convention now being held at Jacksonville, Fla., as one of the issues most worthy of support of national association.

DISEASE SWEEPS REFUGEE CAMPS

Flotsam of Turco-Greek War Dying by Thousands, Reports Declare

ATHENS, Jan. 20.—Christian refugees from Asia Minor, crowded in unsanitary concentration camps on Greek soil, are dying at the rate of 1,000 daily from typhus, smallpox, scurvy and starvation, it was estimated today by Dr. Mabel Elliott of the American Near East administration.

The thousands of famished, poorly clothed men, women and children who were driven from their homes by the Turco-Greek war in Asia Minor, are being completely annihilated.

"There are refugees gathering at 100 different localities," said Dr. Elliott. "Their number exceeds one-fifth of the total Greek population. I have received telegrams showing that typhus and smallpox are gaining headway at a most alarming rate.

"There are indications that typhus is developing rapidly in Athens. The victims include the minister from Holland, who died shortly after contracting the disease."

Money spent in Glendale helps to make Glendale a bigger and better city.

And beginning Sunday (tomorrow) patrons of this theatre will have an opportunity to see the William Fox classic of the turf, "The Fast Mail."

The T. D. & L.

In "Outcast," the Paramount release, now playing at the T. D. & L. Theatre, Elsie Ferguson is seen in the role of a woman who finds love in the strangest manner possible to conceive. Forced to wander the streets, after being evicted, a spray of water from a syphon, coming from an open window, starts her feet along the pathway of absorbing romance and adventure to a finish that is a smashing surprise.

George Arliss comes to the T. D. & L. Sunday (tomorrow) in his latest United Artists film, "The Man Who Played God," an entirely new type of characterization for this superb actor. The story deals with a world-famous musician who suddenly becomes deaf, and of his ensuing bitterness, overcome by the discovery of another life tragedy greater even than his own.

Admirers of Mr. Arliss—and they are legion—are going to vote this picture his best.

AUTOMOBILE SECTION

THINK FOR TWO! AVOID ACCIDENT!

Motorist Who Is Always Right Is Liable to Be Mixed Up in Crash, Too

Namby-pamby auto driving vs. reckless smartaleckness is a subject of vital importance which is coming up for attention in the present anti-accident campaign being conducted by the Safety Bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

For instance, say club officials, it is neither amateurish nor namby-pamby to always slow down at a railroad crossing, and it is not "smart" to rush across the tracks just because they are not actually blocked by a moving train. Many of the worst accidents occur at such crossings, it is pointed out by the safety bureau, and sometimes no warning is given of the approach of a train. A motorist may be right in going across but he will be in awful wrong if he gets hit.

Think for Two

The motorist who thinks he is always right, and really may be right, is liable to have accidents just on account of his own self-righteousness unless he also does some thinking for the "other fellow." Every auto driver ought to think for two—himself and the driver of the other car.

A motorist is only as safe as the most careless driver on the road, says the club safety bureau. It is all very well to stand upon one's rights under ordinary circumstances, but motorists will have to admit that there is not much fun in lying under a wreck and piping up feebly—"well—I was RIGHT, anyway!"

It is better, indicates the Auto club, to risk being classed as over careful and namby-pamby in taking precautions than it is to be judged extra competent or smart-aleck by taking risks to show off in front of people and be commended as a classy driver, and a special drive will be made by the Safety Bureau to protect law-abiding autoists from the smart-aleck types.

SAFETY FOR PASSENGERS

When stopping in traffic to discharge passengers, it is well to insist upon having them dismount on the right hand side of the car. Many a person has been seriously injured by being "winged" by passing vehicles when alighting on the left hand side of the car. While the driver is not responsible for his passengers under such conditions, their safety is a matter of great interest to him. Make them use the right doors.

ELIMINATE NOISES

Bothersome rattles may be quickly overcome by inserting pieces of rubber between the two vibrating or chafing surfaces. An old inner tube can be used for this purpose.

Dry cells will quickly run down, if allowed to rattle.

TO THE AUTO—LONG LIFE!

TO FRIEND AUTOMOBILE—A toast: Long life; smooth roads; no tacks or broken glass in your pathway; no reckless driver to wreck you; health to you in body and in every part and accessory; drink, in good aqua pura (Mr. Volstead consenting) to long life and sound condition for the faithful auto!

To the family, the automobile typifies pleasure, freedom from care, long, delightful drives through inspiring scenery; tonic for weary bodies and over-strung nerves; delicious, refreshing rest and recreation. The automobile is a wonderful means of diversion, recreation, promotion of health—fostering happiness and contentment in the family; sweetening the labors and cares of daily life with remembrances of past outings and anticipations of future trips. The automobile is a boon to tired, diversion-seeking human beings.

To busy men and women, in trades, business or professions, the automobile is a godsend. It carries them safely and swiftly to and fro, expediting the daily work, and blessing the whole community.

Here's to the automobile, the princeliest of all wheeled vehicles — the indispensable factor in modern transportation!

INFORMATION FOR '23 REGISTRATION

What Auto Owners Must Do To Secure Plates; Better Make Preparations

The following instructions are issued by the division of motor vehicles to owners of motor vehicles in making application for 1923 registration.

See to it now that you have a 1922 certificate of registration. If you have not apply to the department for a duplicate.

If you have changed your address, forward your certificate to the department with the change of address noted thereon for correction.

If your certificate is illegible, send it to the department and you will receive a new one.

Legal Owners' Name

If there is a legal owner on the certificate whose claim has been satisfied, it will be necessary to have the legal owner sign as same on the back of the certificate to release his claim.

If a second-hand motor vehicle has been purchased, have a transfer made in the department at once and secure a certificate in your name.

If you have changed or altered the style of your vehicle to a different type, get a dismantling form from the sheriff, police or other peace official and mail it to the department with your certificate and a new certificate will be issued.

Visitors to State

Non-resident owners whose permit to operate in this state has expired, must apply at once for a California license.

All of this can be attended to at the branch offices in San Francisco, Fresno, Los Angeles or San Diego, or at the Secramento office.

All persons who operate a motor vehicle must have an operator's license in their possession.

DECEMBER SALES REACH HIGH MARK

Final Month of 1922 Makes Great Gain Over That of 1921, Figures Show

California's motor-car sales in December, last, proved to be the second largest on record. It fell behind November, 1922, by just 402 sales. When one looks at sales from a percentage gain standpoint, December, 1922, proved to be 99 per cent larger than the like month of 1921.

As former records have also shown, the passenger car division of the industry registers a larger per cent increase than that of the truck industry. In December, 1921, there were 7559 passenger cars registered by the Motor Vehicle Department in California. In comparison to these figures the same department's records brings forth a total for December, 1922, of 15,409, this leaving a passenger car gain of 7850 sales, the equivalent to 103 per cent.

Great Increase

The truck end of the business also shows a wonderful increase. The registrations for this state last December were 1554, whereas in December of 1921, 928 registrations was the goal reached. Analysis of these figures show a gain of 626 truck sales or 67 per cent to the good.

Summarizing the industry as a whole for the month of December, 1922, the figures represented are 16,963, which is just 8476 more sales or 99 per cent better than what was transacted in December of 1921.

INSPECTORS LOSE PAYROLL PLACES

Motor Vehicle Department Follows Out Order of 'Economy in State'

Following the economy plan proposed to the people of the state of California by Governor Friend William Richardson, Will H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles, announces the first big step in retrenchment in his department.

This move contemplates the elimination of the inspector's department. Following out his plan, the department will officially go out of business today. All automobiles and other equipment, that have been in use by the inspectors throughout the state have been called in by Marsh and all employes of that department will be dropped from the payroll on that date except in a few cases where it is found desirable to use some of the employes in other departments of the division.

Limits Number

In connection with this retrenchment move, the chief of the division states that he will deputize a few men from the inspector's force for purposes of enforcing registration. The number will probably not exceed three and they will be located one in Sacramento, one in San Francisco and one in Los Angeles. These men will in no wise be used for traffic or patrol duty. It is the contention of the department head that this feature of enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Act should be left to local authorities.

The expense of maintaining a department such as that which will cease to exist today has been found to be prohibitive. Figures compiled by Marsh set forth that fifteen inspectors employed by the division during the past year have cost the department approximately $77,000.00. One hundred and sixteen inspectors, or two for each county in the state, and operated at a like cost would mean an expenditure of $600,000. It is contended that a like number of men employed by the counties of the state at $125 per month salary, and with an expense account for motorcycles, gas and oils, and equipment necessary at another $100 per month, would mean that the same number of enforcing officers could be put in the field at a maximum cost of $290,000 per year.

Buys Equipment

The division has purchased during the past two years automotive and other equipment for the inspector's department amounting to more than $20,000. This equipment will be stored until provision is made for its sale.

Employes affected by this elimination of this department are as follows: Daphne Bottorff, R. C. Brewer, M. L. Britt, Michael F. Brown, E. L. Bruck, H. D. Cloughley, F. J. Duncan, George T. Gilroy, W. P. Greer, C. K. Harder, Marguerite Hoesch, Louis LaPlace, F. A. Leber, L. A. Manning, J. A. Morrison, Jr., G. F. Moynhan, Stephen Neal, F. S. Quinn, C. D. Reade, F. Vallejo, A. Van Ecyk, C. H. Walker, F. T. Zimmerman; and the total amount of salary these of these employes per month is $3640.

GREAT SYSTEM OF ROADS UNDER WAY

Federal Government Builds Ten Thousand Miles in 1922; Program Goes On

By J. L. MEDDOFF
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.—Ten thousand miles of road were completed in the United States during the last year in conjunction with Federal aid as part of the government's program of building a system of highways in this country surpassing those of all other nations.

The selection of the roads to compose the system of federal-aid highways, which will reach into practically every county of the United States, is progressing rapidly, the bureau of public roads of the agriculture department states.

The system is being outlined in accordance with the requirements of the federal highway act, which contemplates a system of highways to be built with federal aid "such as no other nation has ever possessed and which, once built, will be continuously maintained in serviceable condition," it is declared.

Minimum Width

Eighteen feet will be the minimum width of roadway unless conditions justify a smaller width in which event special approval must be given.

The system will consist of not more than 7% of the total road mileage system three-sevenths of which will be primary or interstate highways, and the remainder secondary or inter-county highways. The total mileage of pri-

MILL CREEK ROAD WORK IS PRESSED

Officials Hope to Have All Paving Done for Opening Of Summer Travel

REDLANDS, Jan. 20—The work of paving the Mill creek road from the mouth of the canyon to the Mountain Home canyon control is well under way, and George S. Biggin, county supervisor, says that it is hoped to get the work done by summer at least.

The road is closed most of the time now so that the work will not be hindered. About sixty men are at work spreading the crushed rock and gravel over the road and a large force is keeping the new rock crusher hot.

The road will be paved that far this year and it is likely that, step by step, the county can pave most of the road into the upper Santa Ana country. The road will likely be paved to Forest Home also, although this will depend on the owners of the resort.

Need Better Roads

Supervisors agree that the heavy mountain traffic makes it necessary to build better roads in the hills.

The open winter has resulted in heavier and more continued traffic between Big Bear Valley and this valley than for several years, for the desert road was never finer than it is now, according to Guy Daniels, coach of the University of Redlands, who has just returned from a trip to the valley.

"I never made better time on the trip over the desert road," said Daniels. "We went up in less than four hours, not hurrying, but hitting a good gait all the way. And we came down in less time. It is possible only because the roads are in such fine shape. There have been enough rain and snow to settle all the dust, and the roads are hard and smooth. Even the roads in the valley, which in spots, are always bad in the winter time, are fine this year.

Covered With Snow

Daniels says that the valley is grand in the summer time, but it cannot compare with the winter time. The hills that rim Big Bear are now covered with snow and the nights are cold and the days snappy. The road out of the valley over the Clarks grade is closed because of snow; it would be passable for a few cars, but is soft and any number of cars going over would cut it up so that great damage would be done. It is not possible to get to the crest of the grade on that road.

L. A. AUTO CRASH RECORDS COSTLY

Heavy Toll of Life and Great Money Loss as Result Of Accidents

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—Los Angeles sustained the amazing loss of $19,081,800 from accidents during 1922, according to figures made public by the Automobile Club of Southern California. The accidents recorded were of all sorts, including automobile, train and industrial mishaps.

Actual property damage to automobiles during the year, according to the Automobile club, were $871,245, which was sustained in 34,585 automobile accidents.

The average cost of each automobile accident is $22.30, which does not include the many minor accidents which are not reported by owners.

Basis of Figures

In estimating the total loss resulting from accidents, the safety bureau of the Auto club has based its figures on the mortality tables and economic value of human life as given by the United States census bureau, which estimates that the average economic value of a human life to the community is $11,578.75. The maximum age limit of 72 is used, beyond which the average individual cannot be considered as a producer or a full economic unit in the community.

Figures show that there are 125 nonfatal accidents for every fatal one, and that the cost of nonfatal accidents is three times that of fatal ones.

Prove Very Costly

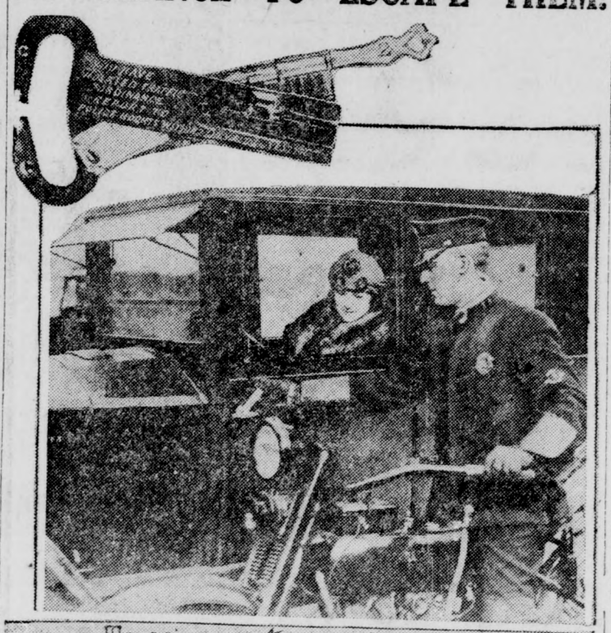
There were 412 fatal accidents during the past year. Using this figure as a basis for estimating the economic loss due to accidents, the club finds that fatalities themselves during the year represent a cost of $4,770,450. Three times this, or the cost of nonfatal accidents, amounts to $14,312,350.

Large as the figures are, the club points out that they are an improvement over previous years. The total accidents per year in 1921 amounted to 54.6 per 100,000 populatiton, while in 1922 they decreased to 48.4 per cent per 100,000 population.

BUSSES FOR GENEVA

Geneva is the first city in Switzerland to carry extensive plans for the adoption of motor busses. Three lines are to be operated by an organized company.

NO CHANCE TO ESCAPE THEM!



Tagging auto speeders with

When a policeman gives a summons in Seattle, Washington, for violation of the traffic regulations, the party summoned has no chance to escape. A tick-a-lock has been devised to be placed on the door of the car. A patent lock, which can only be opened by a policeman, ensures the speedy arrest of an autoist who fails to report for immediate trial. Miss Genevieve Vanderhuis became acquainted with the lock in this picture when she tried to beat Motorcycle Policeman W. M. Palmer in a quiet little race through the streets of the city.

Women Are Eligible To Ohio Auto Club

LIMA, Ohio, Jan. 20.—The line has been drawn on automobile club stag parties here.

The changing world, which has placed women in scores of places once barred to them by custom—among them the driver's seat of an automobile—finds it advisable to permit women to become members of an automobile club.

More than forty fair local motorists are members of the Lima Automobile club.

WISE FORETHOUGHT

A motorist should place a private or secret mark on his car as soon as he purchases it. This will help as a means of identification if the car is stolen.

Tourist Automobile Fitted With Radio

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 20. — Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davenport of Indianapolis, Ind., have arrived here on a tour of Florida, which will end by their going to Cuba. They are traveling in an automobile, equipped with a radio receiving set, the antennae of which is strung over the radiator of the machine.

KEEP AWAY FROM FIRES

Automobile owners or chauffeurs who race before or after fire engines going to a fire in Philadelphia, Pa., will be arrested and fined $25 to $100. The new ruling provides that no one but the police and fire department officials may park their cars within 1000 feet of the fire zone.

MANY ROADS NEED RECONSTRUCTION

New Highway Commission Has Plenty of Work to Do, Says Official

Following a preliminary survey of state highway conditions in the southern counties of California, Harvey M. Toy, new chairman of the State Highway commission, in an unofficial report just made to the Automobile Club of Southern California, declares that hundreds of miles of highway in this state must be rebuilt.

Both Mr. Toy and Louis Everding, also a member of the Highway commission, have been spending some days with Automobile club officials in this part of the state and also between San Francisco and Los Angeles, making a preliminary investigation of the immediate status of local roads.

"It is evident to anyone riding over our state highways that hundreds and hundreds of miles must be immediately rebuilt if they are to be saved at all," said Mr. Toy in his report.

Expend Huge Sum

"I have not yet recovered from the shock I experienced when I found that the outgoing highway commission had frantically spent or obligated practically all of the $16,000,000 available up to a few days before they retired from office. Of course, it makes our task a great deal harder but we are determined that with the help of the various automobile clubs in the state to bring order out of chaos as rapidly as possible.

"We feel that the general public realizes this as strongly as we do and will back us up in our efforts to put the California Highway system in such shape that it will be a credit to the state."

The highway commissioners on their return to Sacramento intend to visit district engineers en route for an informal discussion of highway matters.

WHY CARS BALK

If a car when pulling hard in any gear or when running idle in high misses fire or goes dead, it may be a sign of fouled or leaking spark plugs. Make sure that the battery is strong and that you are getting a good spark. Also examine the carburetor float and the fuel line for clogging.

DATE FIXED FOR BUS CO. HEARING

Glendale Firm to Appear Before Railroad Commission March 1

The Glendale Motor Bus company of 109 South Brand boulevard has received notice that it will be granted a hearing at 9:30 a. m., March 1, at 810 Pacific Finance building by the State Railroad commission.

Applications will be considered at this time for permits to traverse Verdugo road between the Glendale city limits and San Fernando road, and from the Glendale city limits over Glendale boulevard to Temple street.

The action of the railroad commission will not affect this company's plans to purchase the Verdugo Hills Transportation company, according to C. D. Gulick, promoter of the project, who called attention to the fact that this company already had a franchise to traverse San Fernando road into Los Angeles.

As the Ivanhoe district has no transportation service at the present time, Mr. Gulick believes that there is good reason why a permit should be granted for the operation of a bus line over this route. He expects the franchise to be contested by the Pacific Electric.

Open New District

As there is no transportation on Verdugo road, Mr. Gulick sees no reason why the permit for this route should not be granted. He called attention to the fact that such a line would help to develop new territory.

A total payroll of over $500,000 is contemplated by Mr. Gulick who is endeavoring to establish a co-operative company in which each employe shall be a stockholder. A number of applications from persons outside of Glendale to connect themselves with the new company by means of investment and employment have been received, but Mr. Gulick is anxious to give residents of Glendale the first opportunity to join the organization.

Cincinnati Firemen Bow to Speed Laws

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Not so long ago there were those who bemoaned the passing of horse-drawn fire apparatus as the end of glamour and romance in the art of firefighting. Their honest dismay over the advent of motorized fire engines proved to be utterly unfounded, but now the red-bloodd citizns of Cincinnati who got a thrill out of hearing the "hook and ladder" companies thunder by at breakneck speed and with clanging gongs are face to face with a real woe. Firemen must keep within the speed limit regardless of the fact that they may be on their way to save lives and property where even a few seconds delay may spell defeat.

Charles E. Tudor, director of public safety, has issued an order forbidding fire apparatus to run faster than fifteen miles an hour in the downtown districts and twenty-five miles in the open sections of the city. It is a common sight now to see small boys and men who have refused to grow up rush to the corner when they hear the firebells and then turn back disgusted as the fire engines roll sluggishly by.

"Shucks!" they say; "they run like they were coming back!"

An old hacksaw blade makes a good spark plug gauge for gap correction.

LATEST MAXWELL MODEL IS SHOWN

Club Coupe Now on Display At Glendale Motor Co. Company Showroom

The latest addition to the new Maxwell line is the Club coupe, on exhibition now at the show rooms of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado street.

It is upholstered in leather with broadcloth top lining, and the door glasses and side glasses drop down. There is an exceptionally large carrying space in the rear deck with Yale lock in the deck door. The distinctive Maxwell body design is apparent throughout, and the body itself is a very fine piece of coach work.

"This car appears to be an ideal closed roadster or business car and we are now ready to make immediate delivery on the Club coupe," says Mr. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car company. The Maxwell company has prepared for a big sale of this new model Club coupe by increasing their production on this type of car.

CONSUME MUCH WEALTH

Automobiles in Massachusetts are said to consume an amount equal to the wealth which citizens of that state take from agriculture and fisheries.

WINS PRIZE FOR VOLUME OF SALES

Award Buick Co. First Place At New York Auto Show For Fifth Time

Advices received at the offices of Tanner & Hall, 237 South Brand, state that the Buick Motor company, which the firm represents locally, was awarded first place in the recent New York automobile show for the greatest volume of business done by any automobile manufacturer during 1922, this being the fifth consecutive year that Buick has won this distinction.

The display of new models that the Buick Motor company entered in the New York show was the center of attraction, not only among cars of this class, but also among cars that sell for much higher prices, according to the information reaching the Glendale agency, and the new features embodied in the 1923 line were warmly praised by experts from all over the country who were at the show.

Prospects for 1923, Tanner & Hall declare, are brighter than they have ever known them, and they look forward to a season of prosperity that will leave all previous records far behind, especially as the Buick factories are being remodeled to meet the demands that are being made on them for the entire line of 1923 cars.

TWO CARLOADS OF AUTOS EN ROUTE

Hudson and Essex Shipment In Line With Agent's Bigger Allotment

Immediate delivery of several models of Hudson and Essex cars is assured the customers of the Kelly-Kline Motor company, 228 North Brand, who will receive two carloads of the latest types within a few days. This shipment does not include all of the models of the two lines handled by the local agents, but it is expected to provide an assortment that will meet at least some of the orders the firm now has on hand.

Orders are now being booked for February and March delivery, and the firm is straining every nerve to secure an increased allotment of cars, with prospects of success. Carload shipments are being routed to Glendale at regular intervals, and it is hoped that the supply will be up to the demand, as most of the firm's cars are sold before they arrive here.

The Hudson and Essex factories are being enlarged to permit the increased output called for by the steady growth of business, and 1923 promises to reach the nigh-water mark for Hudson and Essex sales, according to the statement of the local agents, who predict that this will be the biggest year in the history of the organization.

LONG TRIP TESTS ECONOMY OF OLDS

21 Miles Per Gallon Is Record Set by Car in Run From Billings, Mont.

Oldsmobile economy and efficiency on the hard overland trails has again been demonstrated, according to W. H. Hunter, 208 West Broadway, local agent, in discussing the arrival here in an Olds Four of W. L. Atkinson of Billings, Mont.

Mr. Atkinson bought his car shortly before starting on his trip to Glendale, and, in spite of the fact that the car had only just been broken in, it carried four passengers and over 1000 pounds of camp equipment and other baggage over the rough roads encountered on the trip without a single mishap. Gasoline consumption for the entire trip averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and the oil consumption was so low as to cause surprised comment from men who have been accustomed to drive cars for years.

In buying the Oldsmobile Mr. Atkinson was influenced by the sturdiness of the car, in spite of the predictions made by many of his acquaintances that the car would prove an expensive one to drive. These predictions, says Mr. Atkinson, have not been borne out by his experience, and he is a warm booster for the Oldsmobile.

IN COLD WEATHER

Special care should be taken to keep the battery well charged and full of distilled water in cold weather. If this is not done the danger of the battery freezing is increased. A completely charged battery, whose specified gravity is about 1275, freezes at 90 degrees below zero; if the specific gravity is 1150 the battery will freeze at 20 degrees above zero.

BACK CAR IN GARAGE

When putting the car away for the night back it into the private garage while the engine is warm. A car is hard to handle when cold and to back through a narrow driveway when leaving the garage is not an easy task. Drivers would find it worth while to do the job under the most suitable conditions.

WILLYS-KNIGHT PRICES SLASHED

Cost of Closed Cars Drops; New Coupe-Sedan Model Placed on Market

Announcement of a new price slash in the cost of Willis-Knight and Overland closed models has been received by Geo. T. Smith company, 228 South Brand, Glendale distributors of these two makes. The five-passenger Willys-Knight sedan is cut from $2235 to $2080; the coupe drops from $2075 to $1975; the seven-passenger sedan from $2495 to $2295, and the Overland sedan from $1050 to $1035. The open models remain at the same prices as before.

The production of a new closed model in the Willys-Knight line, known as the coupe-sedan, is causing considerable stir among local motorists, according to H. C. Kennedy, sales manager of the firm, who declares that it is one of the most completely equipped cars on the market today, with every refinement of the automobile building art embodied in its construction. The large water-proof trunk that is a part of the equipment affords motorists a commodious receptacle for extra luggage, and permits more riding room in the car by permitting the storage of extra articles. The front windows can be lowered out of sight, thus giving the car a longer touring line that appeals to one's sense of the beautiful and artistic.

SALES OF FORDS REACH NEW LEVEL

Factory Strains Every Nerve To Keep Abreast of Flood of Orders

The unprecedented demand that has existed all over the United States during the past year for Ford cars has prevented the building up of a dealer's reserve from which immediate deliveries can be made, according to the Jesse E. Smith company, Glendale Ford agents, and orders that are now on hand are taxing the factory capacity of the Ford organization to the limit.

This means, declares Mr. Smith, that the same shortage will continue to exist this year, and the only way in which prospective Ford buyers can make sure of getting a car or truck is to place their orders now, so that they may be taken care of from the shipments that are constantly reaching Glendale and that are being sold as soon as they arrive.

The December deliveries of Ford cars was 105,799, and advices from the factory state that approximately the same number is scheduled for delivery in January.

Dealers' stocks all over the country are practically exhausted, says Mr. Smith, and the volume of business that is flowing into the factory daily is such as to preclude the building up of any reserve, as it is taxing the organization to the utmost to keep pace with the orders that are on hand.

WILL DISTRIBUTE NEW LUBRICANTS

F. S. Hill Secures Agency for Quaker State Line of Oils and Greases

F. S. Hill of 121 South Brand has been appointed one of the local distributors of the Quaker State oils and greases, a new line that is invading the California territory with the support of one of the strongest organization in the country.

The Quaker State products are rated among the best in the country, and the demands that have already been made on the stock that Mr. Hill has laid in demonstrate conclusively that the new line is meeting with strong favor with Glendale motorists, he asserts.

Mr. Hill's facilities for the distribution of his new line are such as to give him a marked advantage in this field, as his automobile repair department keeps him in constant touch with a large list of permanent and transient customers who, he declares, find it more convenient to supply all of their needs at one establishment, rather than seek different distributors for the various articles needed in running their automobiles.

It is estimated by Mr. Hill that, in the near future, he will be forced to enlarge his stock of Quaker State products very materially.

RESISTANCE TO SKID

When caught out on a wet highway without chains, it is advisable to let out a portion of the air in the tires. Release enough air to give the tire more traction surface, and in this way the tendency to skid will be lessened, although it will not eliminate the danger of skidding.

INDICATOR FOR GEARS

An indicator has been invented for the dashboard of an automobile to show the driver the position of the gears, so he can change without danger of damaging them or causing noises.

"AIN'T NO SECH ANIMAL"

The remark of the backwoodsman who gazed on the hippopotamus for the first time, is paralleled by the impression that strikes you when you first compare the STAR CAR with its price of $558.75.

"IT CAN'T BE DONE"

Yet it has been done, and hundreds of satisfied owners are driving Star cars in Southern California.

"ECONOMY"

This has been the watchword in construction of the Star car. Economy in price, economy in gas, and oil consumption, economy in cost of removing any part of the car for repairs. All this has been accomplished without cheapening the materials used or detracting from the handsome appearance of the car.

SHOW LIGHT SIX STUDEBAKER CAR

Changes in Body Design Add To Car's Appearance And Riding Comfort

The 1923 model of the Studebaker Light Six, for which the Packer Auto Co., 245 S. Brand, has been clamoring ever since the factory announced its appearance, has been received in Glendale and is now on display in the showroom of the company, and assurances have been received from the Studebaker factory that the Packer allotment will be increased to meet the demands of the Glendale territory, which is growing from month to month. The plans of the factory call for a 50 per cent increase in the number of cars over 1922 output, and the Packer Auto Co. has been assured that its needs will be given every attention, so that as few customers as possible will suffer disappointment.

The Light Six model has been altered considerably in the body design, having more leg room in front, deeper upholstery, with the back of the front seat tilted at a more comfortable angle, the one-piece windshield used on the Big Six and the Special Six, wider doors, and a lower slung body of all metal that is enameled at a temperature of 430 degrees, instead of 250 as formerly, thus insuring a more lasting quality to the finish of the car.

The Light Six motor has not undergone any changes, as the motor of the 1922 model has been found to meet every motoring requirement.

HEATING DEVICES USE UP CURRENT

Electric Extras Impose Strain on Batteries of Cars, Say Experts

"Heating devices of any kind, such as electric vulcanizers, electric cigar lighters, electric steering wheel warmers, etc. consume far more current than does the ordinary light bulb, according to W. H. M. Parker and P. A. Black, of the local Exide Service Station, 113 W. Harvard.

"And with the average owner using his car in the winter only for short runs—very often at night—his generator can only put into his battery a limited amount of electrical energy. If there are added too many electric appliances which consume current in excess of what the designers intended should be drawn from the battery, it is easy to see what will happen. It is the old case of "burning the candle at both ends." It simply can't be done for any length of time.

"These various electric appliances are good things. They add to the joy and convenience of motoring. But, before too many are added, it would be well to consult a reliable service station and see that the battery is in condition to stand the additional work imposed upon it."

CHEVROLET'S NEW SEDANETTE HERE

Appointments of Latest Model Lend Distinctive Air to Popular Line

The latest addition to the Chevrolet line, the Sedanette, that is now on display at the salesrooms of C. L. Smith, Orange and Colorado, is attracting a great deal of attention from lovers of up-to-the-minute models, and the first impression made by this snappy car is strengthened by a close inspection of its many distinctive features.

The body is the creation of the Fisher craftsmen, and every detail that can possibly make for comfort or convenience has been embodied in it, the trunk on the back being an entirely new feature in the Chevrolet line.

The car is equipped with cord tires and is luxuriously upholstered in velours, the seats being deeply padded in order to afford the utmost in riding comfort.

The Sedanette is admirably fitted for town use and is certain to win a large following among the ladies who drive their own cars and who prefer a moderate priced automobile that is replete with everything that goes with higher priced cars. The air of distinction worn by the Chevrolet Sedanette sets it apart from the ordinary run of closed cars and puts it in a class by itself.

INSULATION LEAKS

Electric tape is not the best material with which to patch leaky insulation on the high tension wires, as it is loosened by oil getting on it. This is because oil dissolves the rubber compound which makes it stick. Use ordinary cotton tape to bind up the breaks in the insulation and afterwards apply shellac liberally. This does not look so well but makes a more satisfactory repair.

ECONOMY TIP

When your car goes to the shop for a minor trouble go along with it and watch the repair man while he is doing the work. If the same trouble occurs again you will then know how to do it yourself.

GREAT SYSTEM OF ROADS UNDER WAY

mary and secondary roads will be approximately 187,000 miles.

"From the present outlook," said the bureau, "it is thought that this program of road construction will cover a period of from fifteen to twenty years. Many states will complete their mileage in much shorter time, as they have included in the system a considerable mileage of improved road. They will then enlarge the federal aid system by including additional mileage.

"When the system is complete the total improved road mileage of the country will be far greater than the 187,000 miles included in the system. How much greater it is hard to say, but in all of the states the system has been outlined, keeping in mind that state roads independent of federal aid will connect with it."

BIG NASH SALES YEAR PREDICTED

E. B. Sutton, Local Dealer, Quotes Figures Showing Growth in Output

Nash motors, on January 9, had on hand more orders for delivery this month than were booked in any previous month in the history of the company, with the exception of May and June of last year. The year just closed was the greatest twelve months period in the history of the Nash Motors company. Total sales of Nash passenger cars in 1922 more than doubled shipments made the previous year, says E. B. Sutton of South Maryland avenue, local Nash dealer.

One interesting phase of the 1922 record is that the last six months of the year eclipsed the first half period in point of sales. In other words 1005 more cars were shipped by the factory from July 1, to December 31, than were shipped between January 1, and June 30, which period, of course, included the natural spring demand.

CHURCHES

AN INTERPRETATION of the Passion Play at Oberammergau is to be given Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Central Avenue Methodist church by Capt. Hervey Hadlock, journalist and lecturer, who returned recently from Europe, where he witnessed the last production of the great religious drama. His dramatic presentation of the play is to be illustrated with pictures on the screen.

Captain Hadlock witnessed the play before the war and was the first American to visit Oberammergau after the armistice. It was then that he learned than Anton Lang, Christus in the play, had not been killed in war as reported and he published the facts in the case.

By special request from Anton Lang, Capt. Hadlock conducted a party from Southern California to the 1922 production of the play. He will show pictures tomorrow night of Anton Lang and other actors in the play.

THE CHURCH A WORLD STABILIZER

A FICTION WRITER, in a recent issue of a popular magazine, made one of his characters say, "The church is the stabilizer of the world." It is true, the church helps to hold the old world firm and steady. Storms may come, winds may blow, but the church stands firm. It does not shift and change with every wind. It is constant and stands secure through storms that wreck other institutions erected on less firm foundations

The church is enduring. It not only defies the forces of destruction, but it is fundamentally constructive. It is constantly growing and building up, and, unlike any other institution, it strengthens every other worth-while structure about it as it grows.

A growing church means a growing community; a strong church means a live, clean neighborhood. A social structure striving for higher ideals goes hand in hand with a growing church.

Is there any one in a community like Glendale who has not a debt and a duty toward the church?

Identity in the Resurrection

If a man die shall he live again?

The Riddle of the Ages.

What takes place beyond the grave?

Shall we know each other in the Resurrection?

There is nothing more true in connection with human life than that we grow into the likeness of those things we contemplate.

Literally and scientifically and necessarily true is it that "as a man thinketh so IS he."

The IS part IS his character.

His character is the sum total of his habits.

What becomes of this character at death?

Will it be revived in the Resurrection?

TWO—MUCKER ? ?

His mind filled with these unpleasant thoughts, Grayson sat at his desk in the office of the ranch trying to unravel the riddle of a balance sheet which would not balance. Mixed with the blue of the smoke from his briar was the deeper azure of a spirited monologue in which Grayson was engaged.

A girl was passing the building at the moment. At her side walked a gray-haired man—one of those men whom you just naturally fit into a mental picture of a directors' meeting somewhere along Wall Street.

"Sich langwidge!" cried the girl, with a laugh, covering her ears with her palms.

The man at her side smiled.

"I can't say that I blame him much, Barbara," he replied. "It was a very foolish thing for me to bring you down here at this time. I can't understand what ever possessed me to do it."

"Don't blame yourself, dear, remonstrated the girl, "when it was all my fault. I begged and begged until you had to consent, and I'm not sorry either—if nothing happens to you because of our coming. I couldn't stay in New York another minute. Everyone was so snoopy, and I could just tell that they were dying to ask questions about Billy and me."

"I can't get it through my head yet, Barbara," said the man, "why in the world you broke with Billy Mallory. He's one of the finest young men in New York City today—just my ideal of the sort of man I'd like my only daughter to marry."

"I tried, Papa," said the girl in a low voice; "but I couldn't—I just couldn't."

"Was it because—" the man stopped abruptly. "Well, never mind dear, I shan't be snoopy too. Here now, you run along and do some snooping yourself about the ranch. I want to stop in and have a talk with Grayson."

Down by one of the corrals where three men were busily engaged in attempting to persuade an unbroken pony that a spade bit is a pleasant thing to wear in one's mouth Barbara found a seat upon a wagon box which commanded an excellent view of the entertainment going on within the corral. As she sat there experiencing a combination of admiration for the agility and courage of the men and pity for the horse the tones of a pleasant masculine voice broke in upon her thoughts.

"Out there somewhere!" I says to me. "By Gosh, I guess that's poetry!
Out there somewhere—Penelope—with kisses on her mouth!"
And then, thinks I, "Oh college guy! your talk it gets me in the eye,
The north is creeping in the air; the birds are flying south."

Barbara swung around to view the poet. She saw a slender man astride a fagged Mexican pony. A ragged coat and ragged trousers covered the man's nakedness. Indian moccasins protected his feet, while a torn and shapeless felt hat sat upon his well-shaped head. American was written all over him. No one could have imagined him anything else. Apparently he was a tramp as well—his apparel proclaimed him that; but there were two discordant notes in the otherwise harmonious ensemble of your typical bo. He was clean shaven and he rode a pony. He rode erect, too, with the easy seat of an army officer.

At sight of the girl he raised his battered hat and swept it low to his pony's shoulder as he bent in profound bow.

"I seek the major-domo, senorita," he said.

"Mr. Grayson is up at the office, that little building to the left of the ranchhouse," replied the girl, pointing.

The newcomer had addressed her in Spanish, and as he heard her reply in pure and liquid English, his eyes widened a trifle; but the familiar smile with which he had greeted her left his face, and his parting bow was much more dignified though no less profound than its predecessor.

And you, my sweet Penelope, out
there somewhere you wait
for me,
With buds of roses in your hair
and kisses on your mouth.

Grayson and his employer both looked up as the words of Knibbs' poem floated in to them through the open window.

"I wonder where that blew in from," remarked Grayson, as his eyes discovered Bridge astride the tired pony, looking at him through the window. A polite smile touched the stranger's lips as his eyes met Grayson's, and then wandered past him to the imposing figure of the easterner.

"Good evening, gentlemen," said Bridge.

"Evenin'," snapped Grayson. "Go over to the cookhouse and the Chink'll give you something to eat. Turn your pony in the lower pasture. Smith'll show you where to bunk tonight, an' you kin hev your breakfast in the mornin'. S'long!" The ranch superintendent turned back to the paper in his hand which he had been discussing with his employer at the moment of the interruption. He had volleyed his instructions at Bridge as though pouring a rain of lead from a machine gun, and now that he had said what he had to say the incident was closed in so far as he was concerned.

The hospitality of the southwest permitted no stranger to be turned away without food and a night's lodging. Grayson having arranged for these felt that he had done all that might be expected of a host, especially when the uninvited guest was so obviously a hobo and doubtless a horse thief as well, for who ever knew a hobo to own a horse?

Bridge continued to sit where he had reined in his pony. He was looking at Grayson with what the discerning boss judged to be politely concealed enjoyment.

"Possibly," suggested the boss in a whisper to his aide, "the man has business with you. You did not ask him, and I am sure that he said nothing about wishing a meal or a place to sleep."

"Huh?" grunted Grayson, and then to Bridge, "Well, what the devil do you want?"

"A job," replied Bridge, "or, to be more explicit, I need a job—far be it from me to wish one."

TODAY—Chicago police are to be trained in the rules of "African golf" to aid in convicting crap shooters, says John D. Mueller, Chicago correspondent.

MONDAY—Light snowfall causes much confusion in mechanism of big city, writes Frank Savage, New York.

By JOHN D. MUELLER
For International News Service

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Chicago's police are to be given expert training in a line rather new as police instruction. The bluecoats of this city are to be developed into artists with the "bones"; they're going to learn all the ins and outs of "African golf."

This innovation comes as a result of difficulty encountered in police courts in convicting alleged followers of that well-known pastime, craps. Judges have found it virtually impossible to convict gamblers unless "expert testimony" was available. Most of the "cops," according to the courts protest ignorance of the details of the game. At headquarters it was decided such a difficulty need not exist, hence the new school.

One conviction, resulting in a $100 fine, has convinced the police department and courts that the school is well worth while.

"Seeing is believing" is the theory upon which Chicago police courts plan to eliminate to a considerable extent drunkenness here. Convinced that "drunks" haled into court think they are being "kidded" when they are called "bums," it is planned to put before their eyes positive proof by means of the movie camera.

If the plan is adopted—which is not improbable—movies will be made of the nightly "grist" before they are locked up to "sleep it off." The morning after they will be led into a room equipped with screen and motion picture machine. There they will see themselves as they were the night before. It is believed there will be much and permanent "swearing off."

Eighty miles of buildings.

That, according to records of the City Building Commissioner, represents construction work completed in Chicago during 1922, and which shatters every previous building record in the city's history. Further, every indication today points to even greater building activity with the coming Spring.

With the building trades "war" here settled to greater or lesser extent by the well-known Landis award, Chicago settled down to work on its much-needed building programme. Apartment buildings, office buildings—all varieties of buildings—began to spring up here and there as by the touch of a magician's wand. The passing of the year saw, according to records, construction work with a record agregate value of $217,434,960. That this construction work was not confined to a few costly enterprises, but constituted a city-wide building boom is evidenced by the fact that in all nearly 13,000 building pemits were issued.

The frontage represented in the construction programe of the last year was 400,000 feet, or eighty miles of buildings, which also is a record. The nearest mark to that of the last year was that of 1921, a frontage of 244,946 feet.

Joseph ("Yellow Kid") Weil, one of America's most notorious "con" men, has turned reformer. Weil intends to show Chicago's youth, through relating his own experiences, that "there is no greater failure than the most successful crook."

"I'm going to let them know what a dreary prospect confronts a convict who is finally freed to again become a member of society," Weil said, in discussing his plans. "I propose to tell them of the horror of prison life. I'll tell them how hard it is to bury the past. I'll tell them how tough it is to be an ex-convict with none wanting to see you but the cops."

Weil has already addressed one boys' organization here in his "campaign," talking before the Boys' Brotherhood Republic.

These are busy days for police of Chicago. Cold weather always brings a flurry of banditry to the city and this year has proven no exception.

On the first cold day every police station was busy. In one day more than seventy alarms were received. Offenses reported ranged from the "price of a flop" holdup to cleverly planned and executed robberies. One or two of them were accompanied by murder.

The famed "Widow O'Leary's cow," whose indiscreet kick left Chicago a heap of smouldering ruins in 1871, again comes into prominence.

Mrs. Lucretia Crabb Arlin, who died at the age of 80 years at her Iowa home, attributed her longevity to the remarkable milk given by the widow's cow, of which she drank large quantities prior to the historic kick.

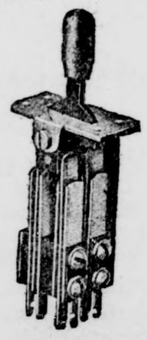
RADIO CAM SWITCH



One of those many features that tend to make radio apparatus of today so practical and simple of operation, compared with the crude, cumbersome and tiresome apparatus of not so long ago, is the cam switch. This unit permits of switching from one circuit to another by the mere flip of a single key, yet the action is positive and accurate. The illustration shows just such a switch. The key is turned one way for a given connection and the other way for another given connection. In the center position the circuits are disconnected. Its construction is exceptionally rigid.

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

U. S. AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

INDUCTIVELY COUPLED TRANSMITTERS

As it is impossible, for reasons explained in the preceding article, for the experimenter to use any equipment which will not comply with government regulations, we shall turn our attention to the only practical types, which are known as "inductively coupled" transmitters, and for illustrative purposes describe a standard equipment using a 500 cycle source of supply and a quenched gap. This equipment can be modified to utilize lower frequencies as a power source and other types of gaps, already described in previous articles of this series.

Every inductively coupled spark transmitter is divided into four circuits, which are designated as follows:

1. The low frequency, low potential circuit, which includes all apparatus from the supply of alternating current to the low voltage supplied to the primary winding of the power transformer. Included is a telegraph key to make or break the circuit.

2. The low frequency, high potential circuit, which includes the secondary or high voltage windings of the power transformer and the condensers.

3. The high frequency, high potential closed oscillating circuit, including the condensers, the primary winding of the oscillation transformer and the spark gap.

4. The high frequency, high voltage oscillatory circuit, which includes the secondary winding of the oscillation transformer, also the antenna inductance, and the antenna.

Sometimes in commercial practice a series condenser is inserted in the last mentioned circuit to reduce the fundamental wave length, enabling the apparatus to be tuned to 300 meters, thus complying with another governmental requirement.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE HAPPY TURTLE

Once upon a time, after there had been a warm thaw in Woodlands, where Uncle Wiggily lived, the bunny rabbit gentleman hopped out in the woods to look for an adventure.

"Who knows," he said to himself, "perhaps I may find another frozen honey bee, and I can take it to my bungalow to be company for Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy when I am away.

So the bunny gentleman hopped on and on, twinkling his pink nose until, all of a sudden, he heard a rattling, banging, rumbling noise behind him.

"What's that, I wonder?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

The bunny turned around quickly to look, and he was very glad when he saw Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dogs. They were pulling after them a little wagon made from a soap box and some old baby carriage wheels.

"What's the matter?" asked the bunny.

"Hello, Jackie and Peetie!" called the bunny. "What have you?"

"We have been to the store for our mother," said Jackie, "and we have some groceries in our wagon."

"And we also have a stone that moves," said Peetie.

"Nonsense! Stones don't move unless you throw them!" spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Let me see what it is."

He looked at the cart and saw something large and rough and round and black. It looked like a stone but soon Uncle Wiggily saw that it was trying to climb over a box of salt.

"See it move!" barked Jackie. "It's a magic stone."

"Where did you find it?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Down by the duck pond," answered Peetie. "The ground was soft from the warm sun, and Jackie and I dug down. Under the mud we found this big stone that moved a little and—"

"That isn't a STONE! It's a MUD TURTLE!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "When cold weather came the mud turtle crawled deep down in the mud of the duck pond to stay for the winter, taking his long sleep. Today he must have felt the warm sun, as did the honey bee, and he crawled out. But he is still so cold and sluggish that he only moves very slowly. He looks like a stone, I agree with you, doggies, but this is a mud turtle. I'll take him home to my warm bungalow and maybe he will thaw out."

So the bunny rabbit did this. And when the turtle had been in the bungalow a few days he became quite lively, crawling around the floor.

One day Uncle Wiggily came home from having been out to seek adventures, and the bunny found the mud turtle crying in the kitchen. The turtle went out on the oilcloth to cry as his tears could be more easily wiped up there.

"What's the matter? Why are you crying?" asked the bunny.

"Because I am so unhappy," sobbed the turtle. "I am of no use here. I'm always in the way. When I crawl around I get under Nurse Jane's paws and she trips over me! Oh, dear! I'm so sad!"

Just then the muskrat lady came up from down cellar, and as she had both paws full she could not hold open the door, which nearly struck her on the nose.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "I wish I had some one to hold doors open for me! I'm always getting banged!" Then she saw the mud turtle crying and she asked:

"Why are you so sad?"

"Because I am of no use in this world," the turtle answered.

"Ha! I have just thought of a way for you to be useful!" said Uncle Wiggily. "You can act as a doorstop. Whenever Nurse Jane opens a door, Mr. Turtle, you just squat down in front of it and it will not swing shut and bang her. How's that?"

"The very thing!" cried the voice of the turtle in the bungalow. "Now I am happy! Let me try to be a doorstop." So Uncle Wiggily opened a door that was always banging shut. The turtle crawled to it by bracing his claws on the floor, held the door open as nicely as you please.

"Oh, how happy I am that I can be of use," said the turtle. And he remained in the bungalow all winter, holding the doors open from day to day.

And if the loaf of bread doesn't try to hide in the cake box to get away from the sugar cookie when they're playing pie-tag, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the ironing board.

FLOAT DESIGNER THANKS FRIENDS

L. W. Chobe Tells of Support Given by Glendalians in Rose Tournament

Editor The Evening News: I take this opportunity to thank sincerely the people of Glendale for the substantial appreciation of my endeavors. It makes me glad to know that my efforts have pleased the people, and, since I have been boosting for Glendale for eighteen years, it comes natural for me to want to do anything I can.

While it is true these things are not accomplished without effort on my part, still I feel that I do not deserve all of the credit, for, if it were not for the hearty co-operation of many other Glendale boosters, it would not be possible for me or any one else to make such a complete success of an undertaking of this kind.

I wish to thank personally all of those who were interested in the success of the Glendale float, and who showed their interest in many different ways. I regret that I cannot mention all of the names of those who took an active part, and many others who showed their willingness. In this respect, Glendale is just a little different from all other cities, and this accounts for her phenomenal success, which has made her the fastest growing city in America.

Hurrah for Glendale

One example of the true Glendale spirit was shown by Mr. Naylor, of the Moon agency, who insisted upon donating the space and conveniences in his garage for building the float.

Another example is Mr. Jesse Smith of the Ford agency, who always comes to the front, and went to the expense of especially equipping a Fordson tractor with rubber tires upon which the float was built, and which also was the motive power. Without this Fordson tractor, it would have been impossible for me to secure the effectiveness of my design. He also went to a great deal of expense in dismantling a Ford touring car (equipping it with new tires) upon which the toy wagon was built. With his well known smile he donated all of this for over a month.

Thank you and HURRAH FOR GLENDALE!

L. W. CHOBE.

BOOSTERS CROSS BATS WITH STARS

Glendale's Organized Ball Team to Meet Mercantile Nine Sunday

The Glendale Boosters, a newly organized baseball team, will play its first game this Sunday afternoon, with the Mercantile All Star. The game is called for 2 o'clock, at the corner of San Fernando road and Park avenue.

The Glendale Boosters is the outgrowth of an insistent demand for a local ball team, and the members want everyone interested to turn out Sunday afternoon, pay his little admission price and support the team.

The following is a list of the players, several of whom appeared on the Glendale diamond last year:

Pitchers, Harris, Heidler, Kolp, Bradburry; catchers, McIntosh, Peterson; infielders, Acosta, Wilson, Johnson, Helwig, Bell; outfielders, Griffin, Flanders, Long.

Any ball players wishing a tryout are asked to be on the field in uniform.

FRED KELLY BACK FOR TRACK WORK

Master Hurdler and Sprinter, Former Olympic Athlete On Cinder Path

Fred Kelly, old time Olympic hero and University of Southern California track star of former years, has put away his office furniture at the university and will make his second debut of the track. This time Kelly will be welcomed on the cinder path as the master professional hurdler and sprinter, not as the promising youngster who first answered to Dean Cromwell's athletic call many years ago as a freshman at U. S. C.

The former Olympic athlete was a United States representative in the 1912 games, where he covered himself with glory in the high hurdles. With the spikes of Charlie Paddock and Fred Kelly digging up the same cinder path, it would only take the ghost of Howard Drew to make a famous antique painting of historic figures in sportdom.

SPORTS CHATTER

Baseball players have their own valuation on their services. When Garry Herrmann of the Cincinnati Reds sent contracts to the California residents of his outfit he quickly found out that the ball players placed a higher valuation on their services to what Hermann indicated on the dollars and cents line of the contracts he forwarded the California youths to sign for the 1923 season.

There is only one exception to this and Sammy Bohne lost no time in announcing to the world that he had signed his contract. As a matter of fact Bohne is thoroughly satisfied and was even surprised at the amount his boss in Cincinnati filled in on the salary line. Sammy lost no time in signing his contract and then went back to the golf links where he pays every day to keep himself fit for the coming baseball season.

Jimmy Caveney, Babe Pinelli and Pitcher Johnny Gillespi have all used Uncle Sam's mails from San Francisco to Cincinnati to inform Boss Garry Herrmann that the salary he stipulated was not in conformity with the ideas of the gentlemen concerned. Louis Fonesca the other California member of the Cincinnati Reds has not yet received his contract from Herrmann but that is probably due to the fact that Louis informed his boss last October he intended to be in the east sometime in January on a vaudeville tour and would talk "turkey" to his boss at that time.

None of these boys class themselves as "holdouts." They all claim they are worth more money than Herrmann has offered them and they are all dickering with their boss for a larger slice than they have been offered. Pinelli had his best season last year. When the season opened the Cincinnati fans gave him very little encouragement but before many weeks had passed he was a general favorite and when the season closed he was generally conceded to be the best all round third sacker in the National League. He batted a round .300 and his fielding was sensational. Barring Eddie Roush, Pinelli is the most popular player on the Cincinnati team.

Johnny Gillespi of Oakland, Calif., is a pitcher and last year did little or no pitching. He believes he is worth more money even if it is for sitting on the bench. He is a promising pitcher and undoubtediy has a future, but whether Mr. Herrmann thinks he is worth the extra money asked remains to be seen. He will have to convince Herrmann very forcibly that he is a pitcher worth keeping and if he can do that Gillespi will probably get the raise in salary he has asked.

There is no doubt that in regard to Caveney, Pinelli and Fonseca that Boss Herrmann is going to give their applications for more money very serious thought. They have all shown they have "the goods" and it would be far cheaper to meet their salary demands than to attempt to replace them. Not that the latter alternative may be resorted to, but the boys are right at the height of their career and the next few years they will be such valuable spokes in the wheels of the Cincinnati team that to refuse their demands and cause their retirement would be a far greater loss than Herrmann would stand for.

THE WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The internal strife in the Pacific Coast League, as shown at the Portland meeting of the directorate, is purely a personal one and hinges entirely about President William H. McCarthy. Those who oppose McCarthy have allowed personal resentment to overshadow the best interests of the organization. There is little question that the business administration of the league never has been better than since McCarthy took the reins and, what is more, he has been the unwavering advocate of cleanliness in the sport. The fact of the matter seems to be that McCarthy is the biggest figure in the league, and the smallest statured men are being spurred by their petty jealousies. McCarthy is one of the big manufacturing men of San Francisco and there is nothing small about him.

There will be at least one satisfaction in the event that Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey are rematched. It isn't likely that anyone will have the temerity to call it "The Battle of the Century," a cognomen that was plastered on the Carpentier-Dempsey mismatch for advertising purposes. New York boxing critics appear to be much more lenient in their criticism of Willard's condition than the Pacific coast writers. It is barely possible that the latter know a little more about Willard than the eastern critics, as they have had more opportunity to study the former champion.

"I wouldn't go across the street to see the match," is a statement that many boxing fans get off their chest when discussion of a Dempsey-Willard fight comes up. Rickard, however, seems to be sweet on the idea, and as he is the man likely to stage the bout, he will be the loser or gainer. The demand seems to be growing, however, that Willard take on some trial horses, and if the public adheres to this, public opinion would force the issue. If Willard really is on the level in his belief that he can beat Dempsey, there should be absolutely no reason why he should not take on a couple of preliminary matches. His avoidance of this is exactly what makes the public skeptical, and this feeling is likely to increase rather than diminish. It is likely to have a sinister influence on Rickard's gate receipts unless the ocular proof of Willard's condition is forthcoming beside the mere statement of the principal that he is all right and can knock the daylights out of Dempsey. Those who saw the bloody spectacle of the man-mountain at Toledo will want more convincing proof.

California collegiate and university track and field teams already have begun their outdoor work for the coming season and the work on cinder paths is in full blast to have them ready.

Wire Dempsey Offer To Fight Beckett

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Negotiations for a fight in London June 4, between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight, and Joe Beckett of England, are progressing favorably, the Daily Express stated today. An English syndicate is reported to have cabled an offer of $250,000 to Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey.

JACK BRITTON TO BET ON GIBBONS

Sudden Popularity Comes as Result of Collapse of Willard Boom

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The trifling sum of ten thousand American dollars will go down at the prevailing odds, on Tom Gibbons to outscore Jack Dempsey when he gets the esteemed champion in a bout to a decision, if ever. No less celebrated judge of fistic flesh than Jack Britton is authority for this statement.

Britton openly declared himself on this point today when he was informed that Eddie Keane, acting for Gibbons, had posted his $2500 check with the New York state athletic commission to cover a challenge for the world's heavyweight champion. The opinion is merely a reflection of Gibbon's sudden and mysterious popularity here following the semi-collapse of the Willard build-up.

Good at Picking

Britton is one of the keenest foercasters of affairs of the fist among the present generation. He can smell a winner from any distance. His manager, Dan Morgan, is reputed to be a city slicker, but Dan wouldn't bet that ice is reasonably cold without getting Jack's say so. The latter is seldom, if ever, wrong.

A year ago everyone was picking Gibbon to beat Harry Greb and said as much at odds ranging as high as 3 to 1. Britton took a look at Gibbons in training and hastily shot $300 on the short end of a 2½ to 1 bet. The result bore out his judgment in every particular, Greb winning impressively.

Fast Enough, Claim

It may appear unusual that Britton now is willing to back the same Gibbons against Dempsey when he picked him to lose to Greb. This, however, is no stranger than the fact that Jack Britton is disposed to cast $10,000 on his judgment.

"Gibbons is fast enough to keep away from Dempsey for twelve or fifteen rounds," said Britton, "and if he takes the tip I gave him when he trained for Greb, he will out-box and outscore the champion and get the decision, if any is permitted."

Of course everyone has an opinion as to who performed the greatest athletic feat during the year just past. But to our way of thinking, when Walter Hoover, the Duluth boy, went to England where rowing originated and beat them at their own game, he performed an athletic feat that no one equalled during 1922.

One would naturally suppose that anyone hailing from Duluth would excel in either ski jumping, mountain climbing or throwing snow balls. Of course Superior is a big lake, but winters are long and somehow sculling is always associated with a sea coast town. So when Hoover did come through to win at a game at which an Englishman hates above all others to lose, everybody in the land just wanted to reach out and pat Walter on the back. First thing we know, Arizona will be producing a champ sculler from one of her desert bergs.

To begin with, Hoover is an engineer and builds his own sculls and oars. He is a careful student of rowing, thought out his own system and then set to work applying and mastering it. He accelerates power in each stroke from the beginning, reserving the greatest effort until the very finish of the stroke.

His theory proved right. With an extra effort at the finish of each stroke, the boat gets impetus which carries it forward while the oarsman is making his recovery for the next stroke.

Hoover found that the best results were obtained when the legs and arms were as nearly parallel to water as possible. So, to obtain the maximum result, he lowered his seat and put his stretchers up high.

Hoover's stroke is radically different from the accepted form, adopted in England and Eastern States. It lacks polish but certainly has the power. And that's what wins boat races.

The Minnesota lad defeated the best in this country and Canada the week before he sailed for England—where he was not conceded a look-in by rowing sharps of the old world. It was not until he won his first heat that much attention was paid him.

He won the trophy by giving his opponents the worst beating ever administered in this event by a foreigner. It was the second time the Diamond Sculling Trophy has been lifted by an American.

Stake Races Draw Fans to Tia Juana

SA DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 20.—Two stake races, preliminary to the $30,000 Goffroth handicap, are scheduled for the Tia Juana race track today and tomorrow. Ten Buttons, Krewer, Motorcop and other stars of the sprinters will contest this afternoon and the $2500 Tia Juana claiming stakes Sunday will call out the best routegoers in the west. A banner crowd is expected to come from Los Angeles and vicinity for the big race events.

Slow Middleweight Bout Ends in Draw

PORTLAND, Jan. 20. — Joe Egan and Tom King fought a slow, uninteresting ten-round draw in the main bout of the boxing show here last night. The two middleweights battled hard in infighting, but the bout lacked the spectacular.

The Short Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—What with Joe Lynch giving every telltale sign of having lingered overlong where the lights are bright and the evenings lengthy and the rest of the boys being slightly passe, there isn't much left of the bantamweight division these particular days. Merely the usual set of diffirent, self-conscious managers, who believe that talk is cheap and therefore use it freely.

A year ago Johnny Buff was champion. Today he is out of the ring altogether, a broken little man, bordering on fistic old age. Lynch is the present champion by the grace of mere circumstances. He is either through or Bull Montana is wearing a lavallier.

The best of the present day crop are Irish Johnny Curtin and Pancho Villa, who is not a bantam weight at all. Pancho is the flyweight champion, but if he ever gets Lynch or his successor into a ring the bantam title also will go overseas to the Philippines. Curtin is only fair at best, but he has come along rapidly during recent months.

The rest of the headliners, so called, are Midget Smith, Pal Moore, Joe Burman, Jack Wolfe and Terry Martin. The Midget flashed only one great fight, that against Pete Herman, and then subsided peacefully. He is out of the question as a champion. Herman's eyesight is almost gone and will never return. Pal Moore had a penchant for slapping all of them silly a year or so ago, but he has lost the art.

Wolfe, another semi-sightless gent, really outscored Pal at the Velodrome last summer, and more recently an unknown by the name of Buddy Taylor, beat him very thoroughly in the middle west. Exit Pal Moore.

Neither Martin nor Wolfe could become champion except by the rawest kind of a fluke. They just don't belong. Burman, however, is a possibility. He is still at the peak of his form and could outpoint 90 per cent of the bantams, including Lynch, but the Chicagoan is an uninteresting boxer and may never get a shot at the title because his services are not in demand.

Twelve months ago Jack Sharkey and Roy Moore were among the leaders of the class. Not now, however. Jack has become an indifferent featherweight, and Roy, only a rough, tough citizen at best, is in retirement.

Frankie Jerome, Carl Duane, Battling Leonard, Danny Lee, Georgie Daly and Charley Goodman are more or less active in the bantamweight class, but few of them are going anywhere.

St. Louis had a candidate, one Peewee Kaiser, until a month ago. Peewee, however, decided to come east to conquer the world and was ill-advised enough to walk right into one of Johnny Curtin's right-hand swings. That punch made Curtin and ruined Peewee.

GIBBONS SEEKING GO WITH CHAMP

St. Paul Mixer Puts Up Forfeit of $2500 for Chance at Dempsey

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. — Tom Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight boxer, has filed with the New York State Athletic commission, a formal challenge, accompanied by the required forfeit of $2500 for a world's heavyweight championship fight with Jack Dempsey.

The fact that Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, already has posted a forfeit to find a challenge for a match with Dempsey will not interfere with recognition of Gibbons' chances, according to William Muldoon, chairman of the commission. But Muldoon indicated that the St. Paul boxer might be regarded as too light an opponent for the champion.

It's all right for a man to be cool in the hour of danger—if the coolness isn't all in his feet.

LEW TENDLER IS AWARDED VERDICT

Secures Decision Over Pal Moran After Hard Bout, Bell Saves Both

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia southpaw, was awarded the referee's decision in a fifteen round slugging match with Pal Moran of New Orleans in Madison Square Garden last night. Both men were all in when the match ended, and several times during the fight the bell saved each fighter.

In the twelfth and thirteenth rounds, after Tendler had had the best of most of the previous rounds, the bell found Lew hanging on and his knees sagging from stiff rights to the jaw that Moran put over almost at will during these two sessions.

In the fourteenth Tendler came back and knocked Pal all over the ring and it looked like the Louisiana Italian was knocked out standing up, but he hung on and the bell found the boys milling with both hands and both groggy.

Find Fortune Left By Aged Carpenter

BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 20.—Some time after the death of Fred Smith, of this place, it was discovered his home was a sort of treasure chest, with money hidden in unsuspected places. Smith, who lived alone in simple fashion, was an aged carpenter. No one who knew him suspected he had any money.

So far nearly $5,000 has been discovered, the majority of which he had hidden about his home. There was also $750 in a local bank. The first finds were made in an old clock and a bureau. The two hiding places yielded more than $3,000.

The last find of any importance was made by a local undertaker, who unearthed an old sugar sack in the cellar which contained $640 in silver dollars, half dollars and other change.

So far as is known, Smith left no will and had no relatives.

Points to Lesson in Wally Reid's Death

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—Pointing out the death of Wallace Reid as a tragic result of the use of narcotics, United States District Judge Oscar A. Trippett, in addressing fifty veniremen, called for duty as federal grand jurors, instructed the prospective jurors that they would be expected to indict any and every person connected with the sale of narcotics.

In his address Federal Judge Trippett said:

"There is much excitement in the United States today over the narcotic evil. Since I have been on the bench, crimes growing out of the smuggling, sale and use of narcotics have been quite prevalent in this district.

"There is a menacing situation which the government must stamp out. This immediate community especially knows the great evil of this traffic.

CIRCLE FRANCAIS IN H. S. BANQUET

Gallic Atmosphere Prevails In Speeches and Menu At Student Meet

Le Circle Francais had its semi-annual banquet last night in the cafeteria of Glendale Union High School.

English was checked at the entrance and French was spoken exclusively during the affair. Many soprano and contralto laughs resulted but all seemed to get enough to eat.

Guests of the occasion were Dr. Amaury Mars, editor of "Le Courrier Francais" in Los Angeles and M. Randon de St. Armand, who was a sergeant in the French army during the war. Both gave short speeches. They were brought to Glendale by Mrs. Louise Blaire of Los Angeles.

Toastmistress was Miss Isabel Tousey, president of the club. Humorous toasts were given to various typical animals with the implication that each toast represented some member of the club. Toasts were given as follows: Miss Cecil Chase, "The Dog"; Miss Frances Betz, "The Lamb"; Miss Dorothy Crook, "The Rooster"; Miss Ruth Verier, "The Mouse"; Miss Amy Bainbridge, "The Monkey"; Miss Lucille Howell, "The Mule"; Miss Flora Craig, "The Parrot; Miss Doris Taylor, "The Giraffe"; and Miss Dorothy Watson, "The Race Horse."

Menu Was French

The menu consisted of puree d' haricots verts aux croutons—which really is green bean soup; cotellette d' agneau, or lamb chops; pommes de terre en robe de chambre, which are sometimes called baked potatoes; petits pois, or small peas; chaux fleur en sauce blanche — cauliflower in white sauce; laitue, sauce mayonaise or lettuce with mayonnaise; and tarte aux cerises, creme fouettee or cherry tarts with whipped cream. Two kinds of boissons or drinks were served: cafe au lait et cafe noir—coffee with cream and black coffee.

Table decorations carried out the French and American color scheme of red, white and blue. Nut cups of red and white crepe paper were made especially for the banquet by Miss Doris Howell. Menu cards, which were elaborate, weer made by Miss Kathleen Taylor and Miss Lucille Eldridge. Invitations were inscribed by Miss Doris Taylor.

Mrs. Ethel M. Bailey of 126 East Elk street, teacher of French, left general arrangements for the banquet to Miss Margaret Brown.

Only two boys sampled the viandes and legumes: Neal Sooy and Harold Rhodes. Besides girls mentioned already the following are members of the club also: Miss Caroline Ayars, Miss Marjorie Temple, Miss Evelyn Traver, Miss Josephine Booth, Miss Sarah Chandler, Miss Charlotte Cavelle and Miss Evelyn Curren. Miss Ruth Jeckel is vice-president of Le Circle Francais.

RE-DIVISION IS WORRYING NORTH

San Francisco Solons Realize Danger of Situation As Project Urged

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—Jumping from the role of a man from Cyrene, who carries the Cross for Christ in the Pilgrimage play at Hollywood, to the role of a Solon, carrying the cross for the Angels, is the way northern papers today are painting the character of Assemblyman Edwin Baker, who is introducing the Los Angeles scheme for re-apportionment in the legislature.

It has been suggested to some of the San Francisco representatives that they see to having Mr. Baker's locks shorn with the hope that he would qualify for the Samson finish. However, San Francisco begins to realize there is something more than mere horse play in a re-division.

Evidently everybody at the state capitol loves a vampire!

Judge George Samuels of Oakland had an idea he wanted to incorporate in a bill. It would make a heart-breaking, home-wrecker amenable to criminal law.

So he tried to get members of his home delegation to introduce the measure. Nothing doing. And he appealed to San Francisco. Nothing doing.

Perhaps he can get Frank C. Weller of Glendale to incorporate it in the divorce bill he is contemplating.

Freak Bills Appear

Among the freak legislation already showing up is David C. Williams' proposal in the assembly to provide a fund for the eradication of the so-called "puncture weed," the newest curse of motorists touring California highways. Mr. Williams comes from Merced county where he claims the punctures caused by this noxious growth are costing automobile owners thousands of dollars and much inconvenience.

Assemblyman John B. Badaracco of San Francisco is championing a revision of the Wright act, which, he says, is the wrong act for his countrymen residing on Russian hill.

From what can be learned the Wright act signally fails to convince the Italian and French people of California that they cannot have their wines.

In fact, there are many places in Sacramento where wines are served with meals, it is said, and Mr. Wright doesn't have to walk more than a half a block to get a drink, either, it is hinted, when he is in the capital.

Solon Seriously Ill

Assemblyman Frank L. Eksward of Burlingame, who collapsed at the capitol Tuesday from the effects of a blood-clot, is reported in a critical condition. He was rushed to his home and a specialist called.

More excitement was provided the solons when a state police officer shot a man trying to escape from his custody.

Sacramento Pyramid No. 3, Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots, is staging an informal entertainment and dance for members of the state legislature, state officers and ladies, Thursday night.

Louis F. Erb, a San Francisco legislator, evidently has no fear of woman suffrage exercising its power of ballot. He is framing a bill which would make it a misdemeanor for any wife of a husband making more than $175 a month to hold down a position when there are unmarried women seeking the work.

The need for such legislation, he says, is seen principally in the schools where man and wife hold down positions while graduates of our colleges, normal schools and university go begging for work.

Certainly, no one should be denied opportunity, but that is exactly what is happening, according to Assemblyman Erb.

Plum Tree Is Pruned

Perhaps you have noticed the economy measures introduced in the lower house and senate with Assemblyman Edwin Baker, Hollywood actor, playing the principal role. One bill takes the "teeth" and their gold fillings out of the insurance commissioner's office. Other salaries are to be cut, according to his program, which the wise ones attribute to the governor's guiding hand.

However, the governor and Mr. Baker are not alone, for about every one is following the course in pruning the plum tree and by the time they get through the state will be the wiser and wealthier for the experience.

The new budget bill has given the governor wide scope for cutting expenses and he is sitting back and smiling at any appropriations the "boys" may seek. "They move first, I move last," he says.

Speaker Frank F. Merriam was accused by a newspaper man the other day of being a poker player.

"Never in my life," said the Long Beach leader in the assembly.

"Well, you read off the list of committees with a poker face, anyway," said the San Francisco representative of the Fourth Estate, who was inclined to believe the south had been favored.

Yet Al Rosenshine, Merriam's opponent for the speakership, says he got everything he wanted in the way of committees. Like other lawyers he especially sought the judiciary group—and got it.

So did Attorney Frank C. Weller of Glendale, who is assistant counsel for the Los Angeles Wholesalers' Board of Trade.

PREPARE TO STAY LONG IN GERMANY

French Make Their Plans to Establish Complete Taxation Cordon

By KARL M. ELISH
For International News Service

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—The French throughout the Rhineland and the Ruhr basin are settling down for a long stay. It is impossible today to forecast when this territory again will be under control of the Berlin government. The German officials are getting more and more pessimistic. Within a short time, French, Belgian and Italian customs officials will be collecting all the duties in the richest section of Germany. The first steps were taken at Coblenz today to establish a customs barrier completely around the Rhineland so that the allies will be sure of obtaining taxation upon all wealth originating there and all goods produced there.

Unrest is growing throughout Germany, especially in Bavaria, where the monarchists and militarists are again agitating against the republic. They allege the socialist government was responsible for most of the ills which afflict Germany today.

Plan to Dismember

The French have given wide latitude to the Bavarians and have even gone out of their way to establish friendship with the Bavarian leaders. It is firmly believed here the chief aim of France is to dismember Germany into three separate states: The Rhineland republic, Bavaria and German-Austria merged into a second state and the balance of Germany remaining intact.

Unemployment, coal famine and food shortage are causing keen suffering among the German people. There is a bill pending in the Reichstag to enlarge the government's powers to deal with "economic and social distress."

Ghetto Mob Storms Death Dealing Auto

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—A riot call was turned in shortly before noon today from the Ghetto district after outraged citizens had fallen upon a "vampire" automobile which had run over two boys, killing one and injuring the other.

Patsy Tonio, 5 years old, was killed. The crowd, including many women, grew into the hundreds and threatened to take vengeance for the boy's life.
